ENGLAND'S WILD WOMEN STILL ON A RAMPAGE

Shriek and Howl at the Royal Family in a Theatre
---One Dame Chained Herself to a Seat which Had to Be Torn Loose and Carried Out---Paintings in Art Galleries Slashed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 22.—Militant suffragettes again carried their warfare into the presence of the royal family today when King George, Queen Mary and Princess Mary visited His Majesty's theatre this afternoon to witness a charity performance in aid of the King's pension fund for actors.

Just as Their Majesties were entering the royal box a woman leaped from her seat in the stalls and shouted:

"You Czar!" She was just about to yell something else when a man who had been seated beside her clapped his hand over her mouth. Kicking, screaming and struggling the woman was borne to the floor, and was immediately carried from the theatre.

This outburst was the signal for a hostile demonstration against King George. A clamor broke out in all parts of the theatre.

Another woman climbed to her seat and began shouting with her face directed toward the royal box but the confusion was so great that her words could not be distinguished.

While she was being put out another suffragette stood up and began haranguing the king.

"Women are being killed in your prisons in their fight for liberty!" she screamed shaking her fist toward the royal family. When attendants and police tried to remove her it was found that she chained herself to the seat.

"Rip it up!" roared a policeman and it was torn up from the floor of the theatre while attendants stuffed a handkerchief into the woman's mouth so that she could not continue.

In the meantime King George leaned forward with his hands upon the railing of the box looking with deep interest at the scenes in the theatre beneath him. He showed no agitation and smiled at some of the things said. On the other hand Queen Mary swart the proceedings with a cold hostile glance, then refused to pay any further attention to it. Princess Mary was visibly excited.

Carrying woman and seat, three policemen ejected the suffragette who had resorted to locks and chains. But while their attention was so engaged another woman and a man jumped up and began waving their arms and whooping unintelligible words.

The police and attaches made a dash in their direction and both were hurled bodily to the street. A woman seated in the first row leaped into the orchestra pit and began climbing to the stage. The director of the orchestra caught her by the foot but she freed herself by kicking him in the face. She managed to get across the footlights and began a wild harangue.

"We stand for justice!" she screamed but got no further. Two stage hands caught her and threw her into the arms of two policemen in front of the house who juggled her shouting and struggling to the street.

Altogether seven women and two men were ejected for their disorderly exhibition.

The theatre was filled with men and women of aristocratic society, many of them having entree to court circles.

Men and women in the audience sat spellbound with amazement or shrank in terror as the battle waged all over the theatre. The clamor was deafening, the shouted orders of the policemen mingling with the angry screams of the women.

Amazement commenced to give way to anger as the women continued their interruptions. Finally one suffragette was seized, knocked down and if the police had not rescued her she would have been carried out.

cued her the spectators would have done her serious injury.

With twenty police on duty inside and outside the theatre, the performance at last got under way.

Slashed Five Paintings.

Militant suffragettes today made costly reprisals for the arrest of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, her daughter Sylvia and fifty one other suffragettes in the rioting around Buckingham Palace.

A young woman slipped by the guards at the National Gallery and smashed five priceless works of art before she could be overpowered and hustled off to a police station.

Despite the permanent guards, which were established at the National Gallery after the Rokeby Venus was slashed the young woman managed to get into the building by posing as a sight-seer. She spent some time consulting her catalogue and the canvases on exhibition, completely allaying any suspicions which the attendants may have had.

After a while the woman entered chamber No. 7 where old masterpieces of the French school are on exhibition. This room was poorly guarded and afforded the suffragette her best chance. She drew a hatchet from beneath her jacket and began smashing at the glass cases enclosing the paintings.

The clatter of the glass aroused persons in the main gallery, but before they reached the woman's side she had ruined five of the pictures, all of which, from the standpoint of the savant, were priceless.

Guards rushed upon the woman none too gently, but were met with blows from a pair of muscular arms. After a terrific struggle in which other art works were in danger of being smashed the woman was finally overpowered. She kept shouting that she sought distribution and all the way to the Vine street police station, she continued to scream.

Brutality of Police.

It is expected that a parliamentary inquiry will be asked into the brutality of the police yesterday while dispersing the mobs of women around Buckingham Palace and preventing the militants from getting into the palace quadrangle.

Numerous letters of protest from bystanders appeared in newspapers today and, as some members of Parliament are favorable to the cause of woman suffrage, it is believed that a movement for an investigation will soon be under way.

The fact that all the fifty prisoners were women except four, who were men, emphasizes the growing demand for an inquiry into the brutal methods of the police, especially the mounted men who rode their horses into the crowds.

Members of the "cause" declare that it has been helped rather than hindered by Thursday's demonstration purely because of the savage tactics of the police.

Another Picture Ruined.

While the exciting scene was being enacted at the National Gallery another suffragette was raiding the Royal Academy. Armed with a small axe she attempted to slash several canvases but succeeded in ruining only one before she was subdued and arrested. She was taken to the Vine street police station and the academy was closed to the public.

Throws "Bomb" at Judge.

The scene of the suffrage action and excitement shifted to Bow street police court when the cases of the suffragettes and their male adherents who were arrested yesterday were called.

A mighty crowd of men and women, the most of them suffragettes and their sympathizers moved upon the court before the hour for the hearings to begin. But as well as these, there were many who came as sightseers, being attracted by curiosity to see what kind of women they were who had battled so savagely with the police on Constitution Hill.

Just as the presiding magistrate was getting ready to commence calling the cases the notes of a bugle were heard. Then the strident tones of "The Marseillaise" played with the full force of a pair of stentorians came through the open windows.

Detectives were hastily despatched to silence the daring bugler and the music suddenly stopped in the middle of a note. But the spirit of the hymn had bestirred the battle instinct in the fighting women and they set up a cheer and began shouting "Votes for Women."

It was decided to go ahead with the cases without trying to clear the court room, for it was feared that any demonstration of force would result in hand to hand fighting in which some of the women might get killed.

Just as the first suffragette was called to the dock to answer charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest some one threw a "bomb" made of a paper bag filled with flour. It missed the magistrate's head and struck the wall where it burst, sending a cloud of white over the court and every one else in his vicinity.

This woman was ordered to deposit $25 bond to keep the peace for six months.

"I will go to jail, I will never furnish any bond to any English court," cried the militant.

She was a woman from the room one of the suffragettes among the prisoners tried to escape. She leaped clear over the railing around the prisoner's dock and managed to reach friends among the spectators. When detectives tried to recover her suffragettes among the spectators rallied to her rescue and a fierce fight ensued which filled the court room with clamor.

Bombardment in Court.

While the fight was at its height the spectators began bombarding all the officials with bags filled with flour. One struck the magistrate on the head, nearly knocking him to the floor. He emerged from a shower of flour spluttering with anger. He was powdered white from head to foot.

Partial order was at last restored and the magistrate after wiping the flour from his eyes, ears and mouth, ordered the proceedings to go on.

Threw Her Shoe.

Just as the next defendant was being arraigned she drew a shoe from her foot and hurled it with unerring accuracy at the judge, who caught it just in time to prevent being hit on the nose.

"Fine work" shrieked the woman.

The spectators broke into wild cheers as the now thoroughly angry judge passed the shoe to an attaché of the court.

The first male supporter to be arraigned was sentenced to two weeks in jail.

"Treat us all alike for we are equals" screamed the women as the man was arraigned.

A majority of the women were ordered to post bail of $25 to keep the peace for six months, but all refused.

In addition to the suffragettes arrested near Buckingham Palace a number of others were arraigned, the total number of cases being heard in Bow street court being 63.

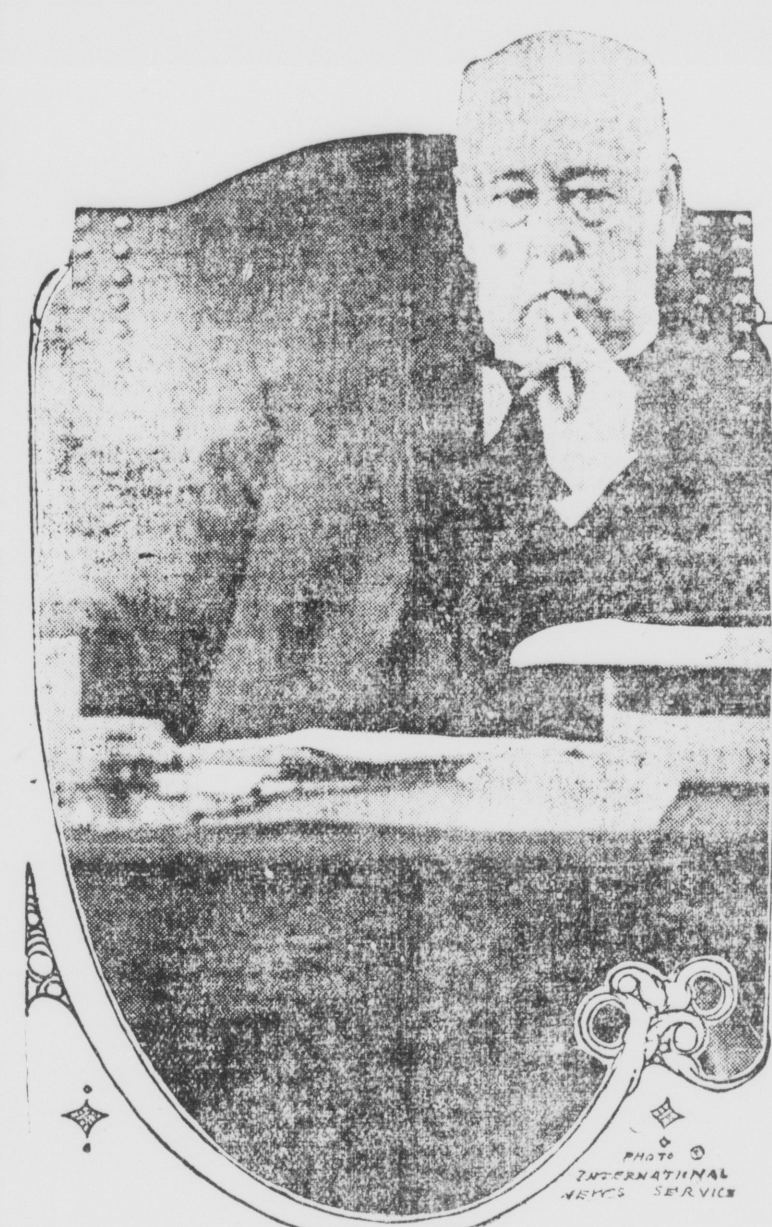

Pandemonium reigned throughout the women hurling missiles at the court or shouting.

The spectators, disregarding the admonitions of the court attendants, joined in the clamor.

While the hearings were in progress, word was received that the charge of obstructing traffic, which had been lodged against Mrs. ("General") Flora Drummond had been withdrawn. This was the signal for a wild outburst of applause as Mrs. Drummond is one of the most militant of the militants.

Dr. O'Leary is Recovering.

Dr. William J. O'Leary, who has been under treatment at the Benedictine Sanitarium for blood poisoning, is now considered out of danger. Blood poisoning developed in the third finger of his right hand and was probably contracted from a needle-prick following an operation performed at the sanitarium several days before. The hand and arm are swelled to more than double their natural size and he still suffers great pain, but no amputation of any part of his hand or arm will be necessary. He will continue to be confined to his bed at the sanitarium for several days.

MELLEN TELLING HIS STORY OF THE NEW HAVEN SECRETS.

Charles Mellen, former president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R., photographed at the witness stand at Washington as he was telling the interstate commerce commission investigators the inside history of many shady deals transacted by the officials of the road. Mellen said it clear that all of the officers and directors were mere puppets to do the will of the late J. Pierpont Morgan.

FARM BUREAU TO MEET CIRCUS DAY

Farm bureau work is rapidly passing out of the experimental stage in New York state. It has now become a recognized part of the great extension movement in agriculture which is likely to be made permanent by the impending passage of the Smith-Lever bill by congress. The farm bureau, however, is more than a phase of extension work. It is a local organization of farmers, its chief purposes are to unite local farm interests, to develop local agriculture, to make farming more profitable and country life more enjoyable, and to act as a local clearing house for agricultural information. It is local in origin, receives most of its support at home and is supervised and aided by a central office through a state director.

The interest and assistance of city, professional and business men is helpful, but an active interest on the part of farmers themselves is essential. It vitalizes the bureau and increases its ability for service. Farmers must feel that the farm bureau is their institution, supported by them, made effective by their efforts, and that it is not merely an institution for bestowing benefits on them. They must look on it as an organization of their own, with and through which they may work co-operatively to secure benefits for themselves.

Our Ulster County Bureau is now in working order. The manager, W. H. Hook, is willing and anxious to be of service to the farmers of Ulster county. He is now located in a temporary office with Herbert Carl, above the millinery store in connection with the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company. When the building is ready he will be located in the Romeyn building at the corner of Crown and John streets. P. O. address, Kingston, N. Y. Ask him to meet you at your Grange meetings. Show him your section of the country. Get up local meetings where there is no Grange. He may be able to assist you, in solving the farm problems of your section, in organizing cow testing associations, live stock and seed exchanges and inform boys' corn clubs or stock judging change clubs. Call on him to start neighborhood fertilizer, hay and alfalfa, soil improvement, drainage and field demonstrations. The manager of the farm bureau does not know it all, nor does he pretend to, however, if problems arise which are beyond him, since he is in close touch with the national and state agricultural department he will be able to get experts to take care of these problems for the farmers of Ulster county. In the financing of the farm bureau work, the state furnishes a small part, the county another, the railroads have put our manager on their pay roll with an annual sum and a free pass. The business and professional men of Kingston have contributed nearly one thousand dollars ($1,000).

However, as we said at the beginning, this movement is for the benefit of the farmer, and the manager of the farm bureau represents no other interests than those of the farmers. However, although finances have been received from these sources, the main means of establishing the bureau on a firm financial basis is through the membership tickets of the bureau. Thus far, we have nearly two hundred fruit growers and farmers who have taken out membership tickets which cost one dollar ($1). Every farmer who joins by paying a dollar will feel a personal interest in the success of the bureau and then should try to get his dollars worth. Farmers of Ulster county show the business and professional men of Kingston that you are alive to your own interests. I have studied the works of the farm-bureau for the last two years in this state and believe it to be the best move ever made for the benefit of the farm.

There are twenty-six counties in this state that have farm bureaus and some of them after from one to two years' trial would continue the bureaus, even if no aid were furnished by the state or county.

There will be a meeting of the Farm Bureau May 23, at 2 p. m., at the court house, in Kingston, N. Y. Every fruit grower and farmer is invited and urged to be at the meeting. J. A. HEPWORTH, Chairman of Executive Committee, Ulster Co. Farm Bureau.

WHITE MOUNTAIN REFRIGERATORS!

In choosing a refrigerator you should be careful lest your judgment be guided more by appearances than scientific construction. There is no piece of household furniture that requires more care than the refrigerator. Susceptible to contact with foodstuffs, it soon becomes foul-smelling if not carefully guarded and washed. If the ventilation is not good, your ice soon melts without the foodstuffs having received the benefit of the cold air.

White Mountain Refrigerators

were chosen by us with the view of giving patrons the very best to be had in refrigerators. The White Mountain is thoroughly insulated with pure, clean, odorless mineral wool, the best non-conducting substance known. The lining is in several grades, from galvanized steel to the pure white enamel, which makes it absolutely sanitary. ## THE EDDY IS A REAL REFRIGERATOR WITH SLATE-STONE SHELVES

Not an imitation. Not an experiment. Not a hollow sham. Not made for a parlor ornament. Not made to suit somebody's fad or fancy. Not made with open joints filled with cement to absorb grease and odors, and make your refrigerator a germ breeder.

But, made for what a real refrigerator is intended for, that is to keep food pure and sweet with the least amount of ice consistent to obtain a perfect circulation of pure, cold, dry air. The inside lining is air-tight; nothing can penetrate back of it to breed disease and germs.

FARM BUREAU TO MEET CIRCUS DAY

Farm bureau work is rapidly passing out of the experimental stage in New York state. It has now become a recognized part of the great extension movement in agriculture which is likely to be made permanent by the impending passage of the Smith-Lever bill by congress. The farm bureau, however, is more than a phase of extension work, it is a local organization of farmers. Its chief purposes are to unite local farm interests, to develop local agriculture, to make farming more profitable and country life more enjoyable, and to act as a local clearing house for agricultural information. It is local in origin, receives most of its support at home and is supervised and aided by a central office through a state director.

The interest and assistance of city, professional and business men is helpful, but an active interest on the part of farmers themselves is essential. It vitalizes the bureau and increases its ability for service. Farmers must feel that the farm bureau is their institution, supported by them, made effective by their efforts, and that it is not merely an institution for bestowing benefits on them. They must look on it as an organization of their own, with and through which they may work co-operatively to secure benefits for themselves.

Our Ulster County Bureau is now in working order. The manager, W. H. Hook, is willing and anxious to be of service to the farmers of Ulster county. He is now located in a temporary office with Herbert Carl, above the millinery store in connection with the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company. When the building is ready he will be located in the Romeyn building at the corner of Crown and John streets. P. O. address, Kingston, N. Y. Ask him to meet you at your Grange meetings. Show him your section of the country. Get up local meetings where there is no Grange. He may be able to assist you, in solving the farm problems of your section, in organizing cow testing associations, live stock and seed exchanges and inform boys' corn clubs or stock judging change clubs. Call on him to start neighborhood fertilizer, hay and alfalfa, soil improvement, drainage and field demonstrations. The manager of the farm bureau does not know it all, nor does he pretend to, however, if problems arise which are beyond him, since he is in close touch with the national and state agricultural department he will be able to get experts to take care of these problems for the farmers of Ulster county. In the financing of the farm bureau work, the state furnishes a small part, the county another, the railroads have put our manager on their pay roll with an annual sum and a free pass. The business and professional men of Kingston have contributed nearly one thousand dollars ($1,000).

However, as we said at the beginning, this movement is for the benefit of the farmer, and the manager of the farm-bureau represents no other interests than those of the farmers. However, although finances have been received from these sources, the main means of establishing the bureau on a firm financial basis is through the membership tickets of the bureau. Thus far, we have nearly two hundred fruit growers and farmers who have taken out membership tickets which cost one dollar ($1). Every farmer who joins by paying a dollar will feel a personal interest in the success of the bureau and then should try to get his dollars worth. Farmers of Ulster county show the business and professional men of Kingston that you are alive to your own interests. I have studied the work of the farm-bureau for the last two years in this state and believe it to be the best move ever made for the benefit of the farm.

There are twenty-six counties in this state that have farm bureaus and some of them after from one to two years' trial would continue the bureaus, even if no aid were furnished by the state or county.

There will be a meeting of the Farm Bureau May 23, at 2 p. m., at the court house, in Kingston, N. Y. Every fruit grower and farmer is invited and urged to be at the meeting. J. A. HEPWORTH, Chairman of Executive Committee Ulster Co. Farm Bureau.

ALLIGERVILLE.

Alligerville, May 21.—Master Kenneth Warren celebrated his eleventh birthday Saturday evening, May 10. A number of his schoolmates were invited as a surprise to him and delicious refreshments were served and everybody reported a very enjoyable time.

J. H. and M. V. Smith went for an auto ride to Brown's Station on Sunday.

The Misses Grace Garrison and Elizabeth Vandemark spent Sunday at home.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Selpe, Mrs. Jacob Steen and Mrs. Mary Schoonmaker attended the funeral of Mrs. Julia Terwilliger at Cottekill on Tuesday afternoon.

Herbert Hornbeck died at his home in this place Sunday morning at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Hornbeck had resided in this place for some time, being employed as a plumber at Mohonk Lake. A little over a year ago he rented the shop of Joseph Evans and went in business for himself, both in the shop and taking several outside contracts. In the early fall his health began to fail and although making a brave fight he slowly declined until his death from tuberculosis of the lungs. He was one of the charter members of the K. of P. Lodge of this place and the burial service was according to their order, several members from Mohonk Lake attending. The pall bearers were George LeFever, George S. Van Wageningen, Joseph Evans, Simon Landers, Jason Van Vleet and Alva Degrodt. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hornbeck, of Leibhardt, one sister, Hilda, a trained nurse of Middletown, a widow and two small daughters. The funeral services were conducted at the M. E. Church Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Burial in Leibhardt Cemetery.

The Rev. Mr. Swithers will preach in the Reformed Church Sunday morning.

WHITE MOUNTAIN REFRIGERATORS!

In choosing a refrigerator you should be careful lest your judgment be guided more by appearances than scientific construction. There is no piece of household furniture that requires more care than the refrigerator. Susceptible to contact with foodstuffs, it soon becomes foul-smelling if not carefully guarded and washed. If the ventilation is not good, your ice soon melts without the foodstuffs having received the benefit of the cold air.

There is no wooden sill to absorb the moisture, no cracks or joints to catch the droppings of food or fluids; no soldered joints to break open. Absolutely sanitary because non-absorbent. ## POLICE ROUND UP EIGHT TRAMPS

As a result of the shooting of C. Eugene Hotelling at Tappan on Thursday morning, which resulted in his death, the police gathered in eight suspicious characters in addition to their other varied duties during the day. Word was sent along the line to be on the lookout for suspicious characters and Sergeant Hanley and Policemen Fout and Boyd went out and collared Paul McAuliffe, James White, Thomas Madden and Theodore Stoup, tramps. They gave a good account of their conduct for the past twenty-four hours and were discharged after being warned to get out of town.

Four negroes, who had been sleeping in the West Shore railroad's sand house, were also taken into custody at the request of the authorities. When the police arrived at the sand house they were missing but were finally overtaken and arrested. They proved they were from Danville, Virginia, on the way to work in the brickyards and were discharged.

POLICE ROUND UP EIGHT TRAMPS

As a result of the shooting of C. Eugene Hotelling at Tappan on Thursday morning, which resulted in his death, the police gathered in eight suspicious characters in addition to their other varied duties during the day. Word was sent along the line to be on the lookout for suspicious characters and Sergeant Hanley and Policemen Fout and Boyd went out and collared Paul McAuliffe, James White, Thomas Madden and Theodore Stoup, tramps. They gave a good account of their conduct for the past twenty-four hours and were discharged after being warned to get out of town.

Four negroes, who had been sleeping in the West Shore railroad's sand house, were also taken into custody at the request of the authorities. When the police arrived at the sand house they were missing but were finally overtaken and arrested. They proved they were from Danville, Virginia, on the way to work in the brickyards and were discharged.

Navigation Notes.

The tug Cornell has been taken to New York in command of Captain T. Donovan to be hauled out on drydock and will go into commission next week.

The tug Harry is about ready to go into commission and will again be in charge of Captain Al Davis. John Lynn, for many years in the employ of the Cornell Steamboat Company, will take Captain Davis's place as commander of the John D. Schoonmaker. Harold Taylor of Port Ewen will be first officer of the Rob in place of Mr. Lynn.

Trackless Trolley is Running.

The Kingston-Elleville Trackless Company automobile was again on the route today after repairs had been completed. Owing to the fact that the machine which broke down on Wednesday evening was not repaired before Thursday evening the trip of Mayor Canfield and the members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday afternoon was called off.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 22, 1914.

Whether the circus on Saturday will draw the usual holiday crowd from the farming sections of Ulster county is an interesting question. The lateness of the present season has caused all farmers a certain amount of anxiety. The warm weather of the present week has resulted in extra efforts on the part of every farmer to get his planting completed and every day that the planting is delayed means added anxiety. If the farmer leaves his ploughing and sowing for a day in the busy season to attend the circus, it shows that he has faith in the ultimate success of his work and of the summer sun in spite of a backward season. Saturday's attendance from the rural section will tell the story of what the farmer thinks of the coming season's success.

Huerta is a drunken old Indian and a murderer in a small way, but he takes on an almost angelic appearance when placed in comparison with Villa. We read in a Washington despatch to the New York Times: "The wholesale murder of prisoners by Gen. Villa, which is officially announced by revolutionary agents here without apology or surprise, has sent a shock through the country that will greatly embarrass this Government in future friendly dealings with him." The worst part of it is that Villa has repeatedly announced that he will on general principles execute all Spaniards who fall into his hands. It is not likely that this bloodthirsty monster cares a hoot about the mediation proceedings at Niagara Falls. He has never paid much attention to the orders of his chief, Carranza, and it is not likely that he will be any more obedient to any provisional government which may be set up. The peculiar way in which we are showing what President Wilson calls our "disinterested friendship" for Mexico is steadily drawing us into deeper trouble. This is the usual penalty for dawdling.

There is no use in denying that the result of the primaries in Pennsylvania this week expressed the sentiments of the people of that State. It is made clear that the Progressive party is practically dead, without hope of resurrection, while the Democratic party is greatly enfeebled. Moreover, the whole progressive movement, irrespective of the party of that name, seems to have died out, for the enrolled Republicans voted overwhelmingly in favor of Penrose—an uncompromising reactionary—for United States Senator. Like results may be expected in most of the other States. Americans are at heart just as progressive as they ever were, but they feel that they have had an overdose of "uplift" and progress, and are anxious for a rest. Wilson and Roosevelt are regarded as being off of a piece, and the nation is tired of both of them. The apostles of new-fangled political methods have been discredited by the experience which shows that their schemes do not work, or, if they do work, accomplish nothing of value. If the voters had the task of November, 1912, to do over again, Mr. Taft would carry the country by an emphatic majority.

Apparently there has not been much activity lately in the movement to make Kingston a barge canal terminal. A barge canal terminal in reality is a freight station on the water front, from which freight can be trucked from canal boats by the public, just the same as from a railroad freight depot. Most of the freight coming to Kingston is brought here by the railroads. During the boating season a large quantity of freight is brought by boat, but the railroad brings by far the largest quantity. To what extent freight that would be brought here by boats from manufacturing points along the barge canal and beyond is taken by the public would be an interesting matter that should be easy of determination. At present the principal consignees of freight shipped here by boat own or lease their own wharves, except of course the merchants, manufacturers and others whose consignments come by the freight and passenger lines landing at this port. The state pays for the barge canal terminal, and if it will be of benefit to Kingston every effort should be made to secure it. If the barge canal terminal is not to be of practical value, it will be an economic waste of time to procure it, because experience has shown that getting something for nothing, unless the something is of practical use and value, is a poor policy. It would be like a man accepting an elephant as a gift in order to furnish amusement for his children.

A FORTUNATE LITTLE FAMILY.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Early in December last year a little year-old ward of the town of Newburgh was transferred from a public institution to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ely in New York, who took the small waif upon trial. The baby-girl was much too young to realize the mighty contrast, for it was a splendid home into which she was ushered; but she cooed and smiled her way into the family heart as effectively and as lastingly as if that was her baby-ambition. And she is a waif no longer, nor a ward of the town, but a full-fledged daughter, so far as the law can bestow that relationship upon her.

For she is adopted into the family, one of the four little tads, all gathered in from the by-ways, all mightily enriched by the glorious gift of a home and of individual love.

In explaining the purpose of assuming the responsibility, the pleasure, whatever you will, of the little foster family, Mrs. Ely says that back of the adoption and back of the advantage to the children, stands their own welfare; that they needed the little folk in their home and all that the little folk might teach them.

And besides, having received so much from their own parents in the way of personal love, of education and material advantages, they thought it selfish to keep it all, rather than pass it along to the next generation. And so one small waif was chosen from the big sea of unanchored babyhood about three years ago, and the experiment yielded so richly that the second, the third and the fourth were adopted as their own, to teach and be taught.

And is it true that the children will do more for them than they for the children?

Perhaps time alone can answer truly—but did you ever spend a few minutes, a few hours, a few days, in a public institution given over to tiny waifs, each with a hard little story of his own?

If you have, and if the little ones have come swarming about you in eloquent numbers and more eloquent words, possibly you may believe that the gift of a home, with the divine light of individual love gloriously in evidence every minute of every day and every night, is the most royal gift that ever can drop at the feet of a child.

And why do you believe it? Perhaps the most eloquent, if the most unconscious, pleader for the right of a child to a real home may be a little five-year-old youngster, plain of face almost to the point of homeliness, but with a pair of eyes and with hands that speak for themselves. When he comes, sticking one dirty little hand into your own, letting the other find its way to your face, while his eyes and his queer little smile seem to say that he is starving for personal love, are you not sure that his need is the greater? He simply won't be persuaded to let go, and when a wee toddler edges to your side, persistently trying to make her baby wants known and to wedge her own little hand into yours, he pauses only long enough to explain that she wants you to "take her," then ungallantly pushes the little scrap of humanity away. Because he is looking for someone to cuddle and love and "mother" him, someone to whom he always comes first; and he will not tolerate any interference.

If still there's a doubt, mayhap a tiny, sunny little maid of three short summers may drive it away as she coaxingly looks into your eyes with the surprising assurance—"You're my mother!" Nor will she let go. And when the woman who, the best that she can, acts as mother to all those little ones, tells you that they are always claiming someone as "mother," then, quite likely, you know what the defrauded little souls miss in their lives.

For what can one woman do in the way of healing the hurts and the bruises of dozens of tiny youngsters, with a word and a kiss? And what can one woman do at the bedtime hour? Or the every hour? When one of the small tads accumulates a pretty bad bruise on her knee and another on her feelings, as well as a scratch or two on her finger, between sobs and tears she looks questioningly at the "mother," as if wondering if her turn may have come to be petted a bit. But she is only one among many bruised and scratched youngsters, and a brief little pat and a word are all she can get; but they are grateful little things and she goes back to her play with the tears chased away.

But don't the very children themselves loudly proclaim that the want of their lives is for individual love?

And one is very sure that while the little waifs gathered into the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Ely may enrich their lives and gladden their home very much the four tads from as many different corners are the greater gainers.

For they have found the warm, personal love note that the best institution in the world is powerless to give.

And to some of our legislators who do not believe in pensions for mothers, one would commend a visit to institutions where the little ones may unwittingly set forth their side of the case. In the "cottage" plan where little families are gathered with one "house mother," there's a closer approach to the home, and sometime perhaps all may be planned that way.

FRANCES SHAFFER.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

He—"What do you think about introducing this mediation?" She—"Is that the newest step?"—Baltimore American.

Teacher—"Now, John, I want you to apologize to William for calling him a liar." "I-I apologize for callin' ye wh-what ye are."—Life.

"So you worked your way through college? Your father must be proud of you." "Not much! He's the man I worked."—Boston Transcript.

"We thought this year we'd rather move than clean house." "Great scheme!" "Unfortunately, the same idea had occurred to the people who vacated the house we moved into."—Boston Transcript.

"When are you going to answer that man's arguments?" "I'm not going to answer them," replied the old-timer. "Interest in a monologue soon dies out. I'm not going to help him turn into a controversy."—Washington Star.

Little Emma Blase—"I wish you and papa would get divorced." Her mother—"Divorced? Why, dear?" Little Blase—"Little Myrtle Way-up's papa and mamma are, and she sees each of them six months in the year, and I don't see you and papa at all."—Puck.

Caustic Humor.
"I have often been tempted by biographical publishers," Sir Herbert Tree recently remarked, "who have assailed me to write my memoirs; but so far I have successfully resisted their blandishments and even the entreaties of my daughter Viola. 'Dear father,' she wrote from Milan not long ago, 'do write your reminiscences. They will be intensely interesting. Write them all about other people, then they will be interested in you.'"

Neither is this the only example of his daughter's somewhat caustic humor which Sir Herbert has given us. A short time ago he signed a document instructing that he should be cremated after death. When informing his daughter of this fact Sir Herbert wrote and said: "I will send you a beautiful urn holding my ashes."

To which she replied: "Dear father—That will be a dreadful day—a nasty jar for me!"—Strand.

An Epitaph for a Trust.

"Miss the trusts," said Senator La Follette at a luncheon in Washington. "Yes, oh, yes, when the trusts go we will miss them—we'll miss them like the widow."

"A widow at her late husband's funeral, happened during the burial services, to drop her handkerchief into the open grave."

"A young man gallantly offered to leap down and get the handkerchief for her."

"But the widow shook her head."

"No," she said, "leave it there. I have done with tears now."—Washington Post.

His Only Line.

They called in a native of Persia the other day to witness a rehearsal of Richard Walton Tully's new drama, "Omar, the Tentmaker," to see that everything conformed to Persian convention, according to the New York World. Omar, the poet, was about to make his first appearance, and a servant heralded his approach with the words: "Omar, the poet, comes." "That will never do," interrupted the adviser. "In Persia the servant would remain silent." "There goes my only line," moaned the poor, ambitious actor.

Dodging the Blame.

Theodore Dreiser, at a luncheon in New York given in his honor, warned his fellow authors against hysterical writing. "Look at the fate of the muckraker," said Dreiser. "He has lost his popularity and one cannot but feel pleased at his disappearance, for his outcries did more harm than good. I am sure that he wishes now that he had been milder in his denunciations. He can sympathize with the dentist's wife. Awakening with a bad headache the morning after a banquet, a suburban dentist mused not unpleasantly, on his last evening's spree. But suddenly his wife appeared and, advancing to his bedside, shouted, hysterically: 'You wretch! What will the neighbors say at your coming home drunk last night?' 'But my dear, nobody saw me,' the dentist protested. 'Nobody saw you? What if nobody did see you? You know well enough they all heard the way I carried on when you got back.'"

Whether the circus on Saturday will draw the usual holiday crowd from the farming sections of Ulster county is an interesting question. The lateness of the present season has caused all farmers a certain amount of anxiety. The warm weather of the present week has resulted in extra efforts on the part of every farmer to get his planting completed and every day that the planting is delayed means added anxiety. If the farmer leaves his ploughing and sowing for a day in the busy season to attend the circus, it shows that he has faith in the ultimate success of his work and of the summer sun in spite of a backward season. Saturday's attendance from the rural section will tell the story of what the farmer thinks of the coming season's success.

Huerta is a drunken old Indian and a murderer in a small way, but he takes on an almost angelic appearance when placed in comparison with Villa. We read in a Washington despatch to the New York Times: "The wholesale murder of prisoners by Gen. Villa, which is officially announced by revolutionary agents here without apology or surprise, has sent a shock through the country that will greatly embarrass this Government in future friendly dealings with him." The worst part of it is that Villa has repeatedly announced that he will on general principles execute all Spaniards who fall into his hands. It is not likely that this bloodthirsty monster cares a hoot about the mediation proceedings at Niagara Falls. He has never paid much attention to the orders of his chief, Carranza, and it is not likely that he will be any more obedient to any provisional government which may be set up. The peculiar way in which he is showing what President Wilson calls our "disinterested friendship" for Mexico is steadily drawing us into deeper trouble. This is the usual penalty for dawdling.

There is no use in denying that the result of the primaries in Pennsylvania this week expressed the sentiments of the people of that State. It is made clear that the Progressive party is practically dead, without hope of resurrection, while the Democratic party is greatly enfeebled. Moreover, the whole progressive movement, irrespective of the party of that name, seems to have died out, for the enrolled Republicans voted overwhelmingly in favor of Penrose—an uncompromising reactionary—for United States Senator. Like results may be expected in most of the other States. Americans are at heart just as progressive as they ever were, but they feel that they have had an overdose of "uplift" and progress, and are anxious for a rest. Wilson and Roosevelt are regarded as being off of a piece, and the nation is tired of both of them. The apostles of new-fangled political methods have been discredited by the experience which shows that their schemes do not work, or, if they do work, accomplish nothing of value. If the voters had the task of November, 1912, to do over again, Mr. Taft would carry the country by an emphatic majority.

Apparently there has not been much activity lately in the movement to make Kingston a barge canal terminal. A barge canal terminal in reality is a freight station on the water front, from which freight can be trucked from canal boats by the public, just the same as from a railroad freight depot. Most of the freight coming to Kingston is brought here by the railroads. During the boating season a large quantity of freight is brought by boat, but the railroad brings by far the largest quantity. To what extent freight that would be brought here by boats from manufacturing points along the barge canal and beyond is taken by the public would be an interesting matter that should be easy of determination. At present the principal consignees of freight shipped here by boat own or lease their own wharves, except of course the merchants, manufacturers and others whose consignments come by the freight and passenger lines landing at this port. The state pays for the barge canal terminal, and if it will be of benefit to Kingston every effort should be made to secure it. If the barge canal terminal is not to be of practical value, it will be an economic waste of time to procure it, because experience has shown that getting something for nothing, unless the something is of practical use and value, is a poor policy. It would be like a man accepting an elephant as a gift in order to furnish amusement for his children.

A FORTUNATE LITTLE FAMILY.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Early in December last year a little year-old ward of the town of Newburgh was transferred from a public institution to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ely in New York, who took the small waif upon trial. The baby-girl was much too young to realize the mighty contrast, for it was a splendid home into which she was ushered; but she cooed and smiled her way into the family heart as effectively and as lastingly as if that was her baby-ambition. And she is a waif no longer, nor a ward of the town, but a full-fledged daughter, so far as the law can bestow that relationship upon her.

For she is adopted into the family, one of the four little tads, all gathered in from the by-ways, all mightily enriched by the glorious gift of a home and of individual love.

In explaining the purpose of assuming the responsibility, the pleasure, whatever you will, of the little foster family, Mrs. Ely says that back of the adoption and back of the advantage to the children, stands their own welfare; that they needed the little folk in their home and all that the little folk might teach them.

And besides, having received so much from their own parents in the way of personal love, of education and material advantages, they thought it selfish to keep it all, rather than pass it along to the next generation. And so one small waif was chosen from the big sea of unanchored babyhood about three years ago, and the experiment yielded so richly that the second, the third and the fourth were adopted as their own, to teach and be taught.

And is it true that the children will do more for them than they for the children?

Perhaps time alone can answer truly—but did you ever spend a few minutes, a few hours, a few days, in a public institution given over to tiny waifs, each with a hard little story of his own?

If you have, and if the little ones have come swarming about you in eloquent numbers and more eloquent words, possibly you may believe that the gift of a home, with the divine light of individual love gloriously in evidence every minute of every day and every night, is the most royal gift that ever can drop at the feet of a child.

And why do you believe it? Perhaps the most eloquent, if the most unconscious, pleader for the right of a child to a real home may be a little five-year-old youngster, plain of face almost to the point of homeliness, but with a pair of eyes and with hands that speak for themselves. When he comes, sticking one dirty little hand into your own, letting the other find its way to your face, while his eyes and his queer little smile seem to say that he is starving for personal love, are you not sure that his need is the greater? He simply won't be persuaded to let go, and when a wee toddler edges to your side, persistently trying to make her baby wants known and to wedge her own little hand into yours, he pauses only long enough to explain that she wants you to "take her," then ungallantly pushes the little scrap of humanity away. Because he is looking for someone to cuddle and love and "mother" him, someone to whom he always comes first; and he will not tolerate any interference.

If still there's a doubt, mayhap a tiny, sunny little maid of three short summers may drive it away as she cooingly looks into your eyes with the surprising assurance—"You're my mother!" Nor will she let go. And when the woman who, the best that she can, acts as mother to all those little ones, tells you that they are always claiming someone as "mother," then, quite likely, you know what the defrauded little souls miss in their lives.

For what can one woman do in the way of healing the hurts and the bruises of dozens of tiny youngsters, with a word and a kiss? And what can one woman do at the bedtime hour? Or the every hour? When one of the small tads accumulates a pretty bad bruise on her knee and another on her feelings, as well as a scratch or two on her finger, between sobs and tears she looks questioningly at the "mother," as if wondering if her turn may have come to be petted a bit. But she is only one among many bruised and scratched youngsters, and a brief little pat and a word are all she can get; but they are grateful little things and she goes back to her play with the tears chased away.

But don't the very children themselves loudly proclaim that the want of their lives is for individual love?

And one is very sure that while the little waifs gathered into the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Ely may enrich their lives and gladden their home very much the four tads from as many different corners are the greater gainers.

For they have found the warm, personal love note that the best institution in the world is powerless to give.

And to some of our legislators who do not believe in pensions for mothers, one would commend a visit to institutions where the little ones may unwittingly set forth their side of the case. In the "cottage" plan where little families are gathered with one "house mother," there's a closer approach to the home, and sometime perhaps all may be planned that way.

FRANCES SHAFPER.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

He—"What do you think about introducing this mediation?" She—"Is that the newest step?"—Baltimore American.

"We thought this year we'd rather move than clean house." "Great scheme!" "Unfortunately, the same idea had occurred to the people who vacated the house we moved into."—Boston Transcript.

"When are you going to answer that man's arguments?" "I'm not going to answer them," replied the old-timer. "Interest in a monologue soon flies out. I'm not going to help him turn into a controversy."—Washington Star.

Little Emma Blase—"I wish you and papa would get divorced." Her mother—"Divorced? Why, dear?" Little Blase—"Little Myrtle Way-up's papa and mamma are, and she sees each of them six months in the year, and I don't see you and papa at all."—Puck.

Caustic Humor.

"I have often been tempted by biographical publishers," Sir Herbert Tree recently remarked, "who have assailed me to write my memoirs; but so far I have successfully resisted their blandishments and even the entreaties of my daughter Viola."

"Dear father," she wrote from Milan not long ago, "do write your reminiscences. They will be intensely interesting. Write them all about other people, then they will be interested in you."

Neither is this the only example of his daughter's somewhat caustic humor which Sir Herbert has given us. A short time ago he signed a document instructing that he should be cremated after death. When informing his daughter of this fact Sir Herbert wrote and said: "I will send you a beautiful urn holding my ashes."

To which she replied: "Dear father—That will be a dreadful day—a nasty day for me!"—Strand.

An Epitaph for a Trust.

"Miss the trusts," said Senator La Follette at a luncheon in Washington. "Yes, oh, yes, when the trusts go, we will miss them—we'll miss them like the widow."

"A widow at her late husband's funeral, happened during the burial services, to drop her handkerchief into the open grave."

"A young man gallantly offered to leap down and get the handkerchief for her."

"But the widow shook her head."

"No," she said, "leave it there. I have done with tears now."—Washington Post.

VILLAIN FOILED AT THE CARNIVAL

A bold attempt by an unknown hair slasher to clip the beautiful braid of Miss Myrtle Smith of No. 159 Main street was made at the Odd Fellows' Carnival Thursday night but was frustrated by the discovery of the slasher by a young woman companion and his pursuit by a gentlemen escort.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Raymond Smith, secretary to Judge Hasbrouck. Mr. Smith had an important engagement Thursday night and was unable to accompany his wife and daughter to the carnival as she had planned, and advised against their going there alone. During the early evening, several friends of Miss Smith called at her home on their way to the carnival and she was allowed to accompany them.

After they had been on the carnival grounds some time, Miss Smith expressed the belief that they were being followed, but she was unable to detect anyone in the crowd who appeared to give particular attention to the party. A few minutes later Miss Smith's young lady friend noticed a quick movement behind Miss Smith and turned her head, saw a man reaching out with a pair of scissors towards Miss Smith's braided hair, which hung down her back. She uttered a scream, which frightened Miss Smith and caused her to turn suddenly also.

The hair slasher dashed through the crowd, pursued by one of the young men of the party, and lost himself in the darkness behind one of the tent shows.

It is several years since any hair slasher has attempted his work in Kingston, and no attempt has been as bold as that of Thursday night.

ESOPUS CHURCH REOPENED.Notable Service Attended by Several of the Former Pastors.

Esopus, May 21.—The M. E. Church held its reopening services on Sunday afternoon and evening, and at each service there was a large congregation. To those who attended the services, the day held many good things. In the afternoon the Rev. G. Franklin Snyder of Port Ewen preached an excellent sermon in which he called upon before his hearers a vision of a world conquered for Christ. His text was from John 3:17 and his theme "The Conquest of the World." He told, in most inspiring way, of the part that the Christian bears in Christ's great plan of world conquest, and left with his hearers an atmosphere of enthusiasm that should be productive of earnest work. In the evening the Rev. F. H. Deming, D. D. superintendent of the Newburgh district, preached from the words found in the last clause of Ephesians 5: 25, "Christ also loved the church and gave himself for it." His sermon was a wonderful exposition of the glory of sacrifice. He gave a most touching description of Christ's sacrifice for the church, and then called upon Christians to sacrifice for their Lord and His church. He said in part, that the members of the churches of today were not willing to make sacrifices for the good of the church. They are not willing to sacrifice time to do the work of the church; they are not willing to give their sons and daughters to the work of God. He said that many who were present could remember when a parent counted it a distinction if the son of the household entered the work of the ministry. Now the youth are discouraged from entering upon such a course because of the hardships and self-denial that the life of the minister demands. He pointed out that while offerings of money are needed for the work of the church, the sacrifice of time, personal work, ability, and even the sacrifice of loved ones to the work of the church is more necessary to its welfare. At both services special music was rendered. Both the solos and choruses were very well rendered, indeed. John Sottong played two "cello solos, accompanied by his son William on the organ, which were deeply appreciated by the congregation. Mrs. Fred Martin with her violin added much to the effectiveness of the musical program, as did T. F. DeVoe who sang two bass solos in a most excellent manner.

Former pastors who were present and took part in the services were, the Rev. John Anthony of South Rondout, the Rev. W. H. Peters, Pleasant Valley; the Rev. P. N. Chase, Kingston; and the Rev. R. M. Roberts, Esopus. The church was tastefully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. At the evening service the Rev. Dr. Deming took a special collection to finish paying for the improvements which are valued at $591.75. Pledges of an amount of eighty-six dollars were secured, which with the afternoon collection of six dollars and eighty cents made a total collection of ninety-two dollars and eighty cents.

of the Former Pastors.

Esopus, May 21.—The M. E. Church held its reopening services on Sunday afternoon and evening, and at each service there was a large congregation. To those who attended the services, the day held many good things. In the afternoon the Rev. G. Franklin Snyder of Port Ewen preached an excellent sermon in which he called upon before his hearers a vision of a world conquered for Christ. His text was from John 3:17 and his theme "The Conquest of the World." He told, in most inspiring way, of the part that the Christian bears in Christ's great plan of world conquest, and left with his hearers an atmosphere of enthusiasm that should be productive of earnest work. In the evening the Rev. F. H. Deming, D. D. superintendent of the Newburgh district, preached from the words found in the last clause of Ephesians 5: 25, "Christ also loved the church and gave himself for it." His sermon was a wonderful exposition of the glory of sacrifice. In Celebration of This Store's 14 Years Successful Business Career

ULSTER COUNTY

The Reliable
UP-TO-DATE CLOAK MFG. CO.

303-305 Wall Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Fourteen years ago we started business in a modest way in a store where we are now located. The store at that time was occupied by Banta's Candy Kitchen, the dimensions of which was 17 by 60 feet, the building being owned by the Wynkoop Estate and occupied by three other tenants—Geo. B. Styles, Auchmoody & Oakes and Miss Boice. The business at that time, as at present, was carried on by Frank Forman and in his employ 14 years ago was two salesladies and one tailor. After 2 years Mr. Frank Forman found, by fair dealing and gaining the confidence of the public, he had outgrown this store, and that enlargement was necessary. The purchase of the building was consummated and at once improvements were under way. Today to show the rapid growth of the Reliable UP-TO-DATE CLOAK MFG. CO. with Frank Forman as its President, we state with much pride, that we have the best equipped store in this section of the state with 30 employes who are kept busy from the time they enter the store until closing time. Step by step we have grown until now we occupy an enviable position in the business world of this section. This has only been accomplished by painstaking efforts in everything that pertains to the welfare of our customers—supplying the largest assortments of new things, giving our customers the best of good service and keeping prices as low as possible consistent with dependable quality merchandise.

To show our appreciation of your liberal patronage we are going to hold our first Anniversary Sale in 14 years that will be without an equal in history.

We have been preparing for this event for many, many months and now have assembled together a great collection of bargains. Everything that is offered is new, seasonable and up-to-date and cannot but reflect credit upon this store's merchandising methods and its ability to do things, and will in a measure show our appreciation of your continued patronage and loyal support during the past 14 years.

COW PASTURE NOW IN ROBERTS CASE

Also a Letter With Harsh Words for Miss Frances Roberts Who the Lawyer Says "Abhors Peace."

As a sideline in the suit begun by Miss Frances P. Roberts against Katherine A. F. Roberts, Grace Van B. Roberts and others, to partition real estate formerly owned by her father, the late Dr. Charles H. Roberts of Oakes, town of Lloyd, is an injunction granted by Judge Morschauser of Poughkeepsie restraining Miss Grace Van B. Roberts from turning her cattle on the farm known as the Bates farm, and from allowing them to roam at large and at will upon that farm.

The papers on file in the Ulster county clerk's office are interesting even for papers in an injunction suit. They show that Miss Frances P. Roberts began an action in partition, and the property is advertised to be sold at the late residence of Dr. Roberts at Oakes on June 6. As Dr. Roberts was the owner of considerable land which is both valuable and desirable, there is every reason to believe that the sale will be well attended and the land will fetch good prices.

On May 9, Judge Morschauser granted a temporary injunction with an order to show cause why it should not be continued during the pendency of the action, restraining Miss Grace Van B. Roberts from turning her cattle into pasture on the Bates farm. According to the affidavit of Miss Frances P. Roberts, on which the temporary injunction was granted, Miss Grace Roberts, who is her sister, owns the adjoining farm, and last year she turned her cattle into pasture there. Miss Frances Roberts alleged that her sister intended and had threatened to do it again this year. If the cattle are allowed to roam at large and at will over the farm, great injury will be done by the cattle to the fruit trees and the vineyards which are planted here, according to Miss Frances Roberts's affidavit, and they will cut up and do great damage to the meadows and injure the grass and the fruit trees, and will work a great damage to the farm and will depreciate it in the eye of some prospective buyer.

Having these things in mind, and stating them in her affidavit, Miss Frances also alleged that such use of the Bates farm by her sister was a violation of her rights, and through her attorney, Edward E. Perkins of Poughkeepsie, she applied to Judge Morschauser, and obtained from him a temporary injunction restraining Miss Grace from such use of the Bates farm. The order to show cause why the injunction should not be continued during the pendency of the action was made returnable by Judge Morschauser before him on May 16.

The order continuing the injunction obtained by Miss Frances against her sister recites that Arthur McCausland, attorney for Miss Grace, consented to the injunction order being continued, and the restraint imposed by the temporary injunction is therefore continued.

Attached to the papers filed in the county clerk's office is a letter written by Mr. McCausland to Judge Morschauser consenting to the injunction being continued, and making some rather peppery remarks about Miss Frances. Mr. McCausland's letter states that the use of the farm by Miss Grace Roberts last year for pasture had not resulted in any damage and that she had not expressed an intention to turn her cattle out again this year, nor to let her cattle roam at large over the farm "as alleged in plaintiff's incoherent affidavits."

Mr. McCausland's letter, which is written on the letter head of Judge Parker, who has represented Miss Grace in other litigation, states that Miss Grace has the right as a tenant in common to make such use of the Bates farm as she made last season, and she had the acquiescence of other members of the family.

The letter of Mr. McCausland continues: "Nevertheless, we enclose a consent to the injunction sought and have tendered it to plaintiff's attorney. It is given in spite of its injustice to our client because she hopes for the preservation of some semblance of peace and amity in the family, and is loath to dissipate all her patrimony in riotous litigation."

"Miss Frances abhors peace as nature abhors a vacuum."

"But it takes two to make a quarrel. Though we deny damage and assert our right to use the pasture, we nevertheless withdraw all the threats we did not make and offer to consent to the injunction in the terms of the order granted. We offer also our forgiveness and our prayers to the plaintiff, for she needs them. We offer our sympathy to the plaintiff's attorney, for we are sure he was a reluctant party to this pastoral conspiracy. And we offer our apologies to the court, for it should never have been pestered with this petty motion nor with an epistle of such unholy length."

"We pray the court to enter its decree of restraint, under the circumstances, without costs against our defendant."

"A copy of this letter has been sent to Mr. Perkins."

Here are Camels—20 cigarettes for 10 cents—a choice blend of specially selected Turkish and domestic tobaccos!

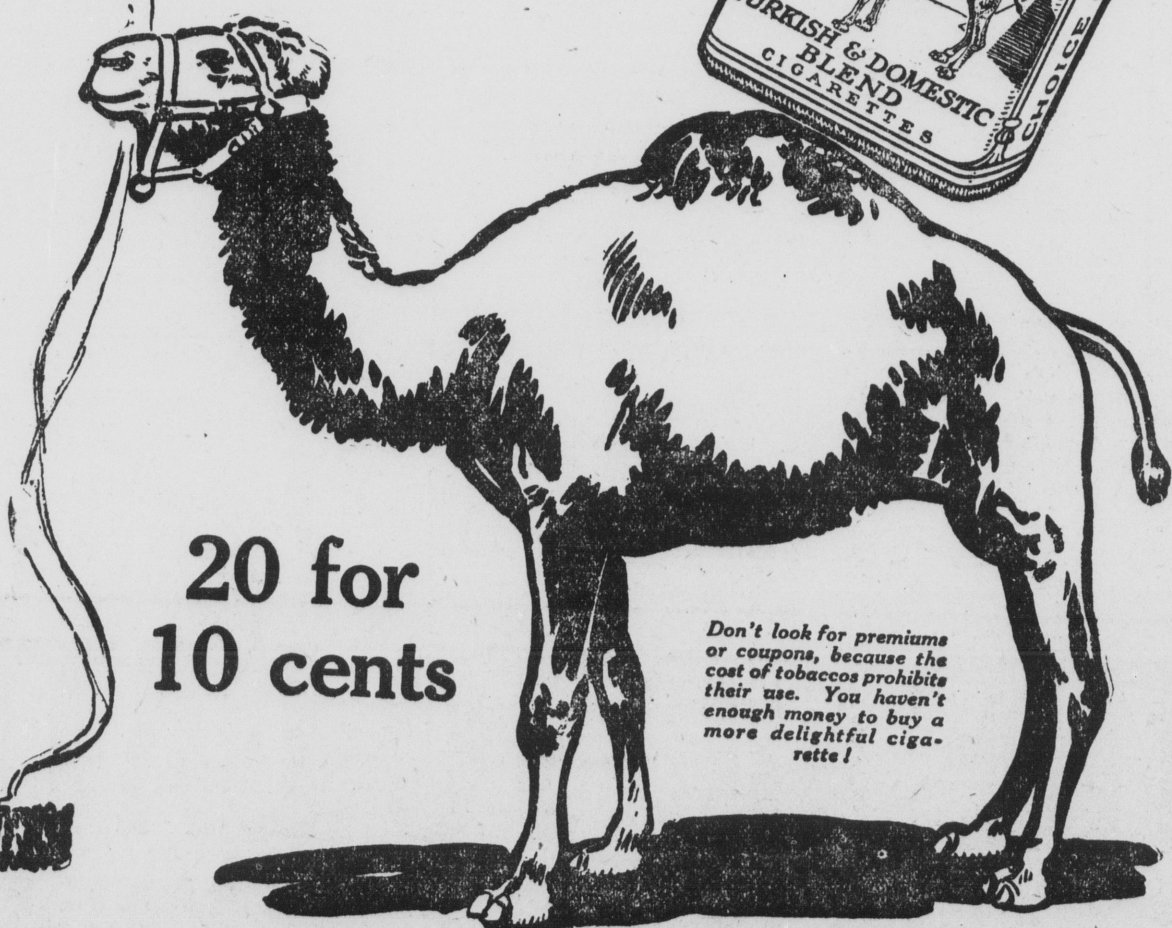

No man's money can buy a more delightful cigarette at any price.

High grade tobacco and expert blending gives you a cigarette that will not bite the tongue and leaves no cigarette taste (you know what that means!) in the mouth.

Every time you buy another brand you're simply wasting money and pleasure.

On sale all along the line—20 for 10c.

If your dealer can't supply you, send 10c for one package or $1.00 for a carton of ten packages (200 cigarettes), postage prepaid. After smoking one package, if you don't find CAMELS as represented, return the other nine packages and we will refund your money.

Don't look for premiums or coupons, because the cost of tobaccos prohibits their use. You haven't enough money to buy a more delightful cigarette!

COW PASTURE NOW IN ROBERTS CASE

Also a Letter With Harsh Words for Miss Frances Roberts Who the Lawyer Says "Abhors Peace."

As a sideline in the suit begun by Miss Frances P. Roberts against Katherine A. F. Roberts, Grace Van B. Roberts and others, to partition real estate formerly owned by her father, the late Dr. Charles H. Roberts of Oakes, town of Lloyd, is an injunction granted by Judge Morschauser of Poughkeepsie restraining Miss Grace Van B. Roberts from turning her cattle on the farm known as the Bates farm, and from allowing them to roam at large and at will upon that farm.

The papers on file in the Ulster county clerk's office are interesting even for papers in an injunction suit. They show that Miss Frances P. Roberts began an action in partition, and the property is advertised to be sold at the late residence of Dr. Roberts at Oakes on June 6. As Dr. Roberts was the owner of considerable land which is both valuable and desirable, there is every reason to believe that the sale will be well attended and the land will fetch good prices.

On May 9, Judge Morschauser granted a temporary injunction with an order to show cause why it should not be continued during the pendency of the action, restraining Miss Grace Van B. Roberts from turning her cattle into pasture on the Bates farm. According to the affidavit of Miss Frances P. Roberts, on which the temporary injunction was granted, Miss Grace Roberts, who is her sister, owns the adjoining farm, and last year she turned her cattle into pasture there. Miss Frances Roberts alleged that her sister intended and had threatened to do it again this year. If the cattle are allowed to roam at large and at will over the farm, great injury will be done by the cattle to the fruit trees and the vineyards which are planted here, according to Miss Frances Roberts' affidavit, and they will cut up and do great damage to the meadows, and injure the grass and the fruit trees, and will work a great damage to the farm and will depreciate it in the eye of some prospective buyer.

Having these things in mind, and stating them in her affidavit, Miss Frances also alleged that such use of the Bates farm by her sister was a violation of her rights, and through her attorney, Edward E. Perkins of Poughkeepsie, she applied to Judge Morschauser, and obtained from him a temporary injunction restraining Miss Grace from such use of the Bates farm. The order to show cause why the injunction should not be continued during the pendency of the action was made returnable by Judge Morschauser before him on May 16.

The order continuing the injunction obtained by Miss Frances against her sister recites that Arthur McCausland, attorney for Miss Grace, consented to the injunction order being continued, and the restraint imposed by the temporary injunction is therefore continued.

Attached to the papers filed in the county clerk's office is a letter written by Mr. McCausland to Judge Morschauser consenting to the injunction being continued, and making some rather peppery remarks about Miss Frances. Mr. McCausland's letter states that the use of the farm by Miss Grace Roberts last year for pasture had not resulted in any damage and that she had not expressed an intention to turn her cattle out again this year, nor to let her cattle roam at large over the farm "as alleged in plaintiff's incoherent affidavits."

Mr. McCausland's letter, which is written on the letter head of Judge Parker, who has represented Miss Grace in other litigation, states that Miss Grace has the right as a tenant in common to make such use of the Bates farm as she made last season, and she had the acquiescence of other members of the family.

The letter of Mr. McCausland continues:

"Nevertheless, we enclose a consent to the injunction sought and have tendered it to plaintiff's attorney. It is given in spite of its injustice to our client because she hopes for the preservation of some semblance of peace and amity in the family, and is loath to dissipate all her patrimony in riotous litigation."

"Miss Frances abhors peace as nature abhors a vacuum. But it takes two to make a quarrel. Though we deny damage and assert our right to use the pasture, we nevertheless withdraw all the threats we did not make and offer to consent to the injunction in the terms of the order granted. We offer also our forgiveness and our prayers to the plaintiff, for she needs them. We offer our sympathy to the plaintiff's attorney, for we are sure he was a reluctant party to this pastoral conspiracy. And we offer our apologies to the court, for it should never have been pestered with this petty motion nor with an epistle of such unholy length."

"We pray the court to enter its decree of restraint, under the circumstances, without costs against our defendant."

"A copy of this letter has been sent to Mr. Perkins."

HUERTA KILLING OFF HIS ENEMIES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 22.—In preparation for his downfall, General Victoriano Huerta is reported to be executing all his political enemies who are held in prison, in Mexico City. The dictator is determined that his enemies shall not have the satisfaction of living to see his destruction if he is doomed to fall.

That Huerta is determined to fight and will make his last stand in the capital is indicated by the fact that he has mobilized 40,000 men in and around Mexico City.

This is the biggest army that has ever been marshalled for the protection of the capital of the Mexican republic, but the strength which otherwise might be derived from its numbers is offset by the fact that many of the soldiers are raw recruits—conscripts and convicts who know nothing of warfare.

Refugees arriving here today from the capital state that a public ceremony was made of the execution of Rafael Tapia, who has been in prison since the assassination of Francisco I. Madero. Tapia protested against the killing of Madero and thus incurred Huerta's anger.

Gen. Francisco Villa, who is already boasting of what he will do when he takes Mexico City, has sent word to the capital that he will open all the jails and free all the prisoners as one of his first acts.

Gen. Huerta is determined that none of the men who have opposed him shall thus benefit. It is said that there have been batches of prisoners shot to death every night at midnight for the past week.

Gen. Gustavo Maas is said to be preparing an elaborate "official report" to exonerate his Federal soldiers from the charge of murdering Private Samuel Parks. Maas declares that he knew nothing of the fate of the American, no report having been made to him of Parks' capture by any subordinate.

COMING LEMON KING.

Mr. Burhans Carries Off Many Prizes at Isle of Pines Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burhans of No. 28 Warren street returned to Kingston Thursday evening from their plantation on the Isle of Pines, where they have been since last October. Mr. Burhans is enthusiastic over the constantly improving conditions in the island and the rapid development of the fruit-growing industry, in which he is engaged. During the winter the annual fruit show of the Isle of Pines was held, and Mr. Burhans carried off four red ribbons, for first prizes, and six blue ribbons, for second prizes.

A recent anniversary number of the Isle of Pines Appeal, under the caption, "Making Island Famous," says of Mr. Burhans:

"One of the citrus growers of the island who is making it famous through intelligent methods is Frank Burhans, of Palm Villa, near Santa Fe. Mr. Burhans owns a splendid place, which had not been given the best attention at the time he purchased it, three years ago, so that he was practically compelled to rejuvenate a large acreage of grape fruit, lemons, etc. His returns from the market for the first year were insignificant, but the second year saw a large increase in the amount of fruit, as well as in the rates. This year his famous brand, La Favorita and Palm Villa, were the winners of the first prize at the Santa Fe fair. In 1913 the Palm Villa brand was also a winner of the first prize. He has studied the culture of grape fruit from a scientific standpoint, which has resulted in his being able to send to the markets of the world some of the finest fruit that could be produced. So good was some of his fruit shipped north that it found its way into the California markets, where it was much appreciated. There is every reason to believe that another year will see great results from the Burhans grove and that the Isle of Pines will be a large gainer through his efforts."

During the winter the annual fruit show of the Isle of Pines was held, and Mr. Burhans carried off four red ribbons, for first prize, and six blue ribbons, for second prizes.

A recent anniversary number of the Isle of Pines Appeal, under the caption, "Making Island Famous," says of Mr. Burhans:

"One of the citrus growers of the island who is making it famous through intelligent methods is Frank Burhans of Palm Villa, near Santa Fe. Mr. Burhans owns a splendid place, which had not been given the best attention at the time he purchased it, three years ago, so that he was practically compelled to rejuvenate a large acreage of grape fruit, lemons, etc. His returns from the markets for the first year were insignificant, but the second year saw a large increase in the amount of fruit, as well as in the rates. This year his famous brands, La Favorita and Palm Villa, were the winners of the first prize at the Santa Fe fair. In 1913 the Palm Villa brand was also a winner of the first prize. He has studied the culture of grape fruit from a scientific standpoint, which has resulted in his being able to send to the markets of the world some of the finest fruit that could be produced. So good was some of his fruit shipped north that it found its way into the California markets, where it was much appreciated. There is every reason to believe that another year will see great results from the Burhans grove and that the Isle of Pines will be a large gainer through his efforts."

Typewriter Completeness is summed up in the Smith Premier

To begin with, the Smith Premier is the only typewriter with a complete keyboard—the only typewriter on which each character has its own exclusive key. This completeness of the Smith Premier keyboard is typical of the entire machine. The keynote of the Smith Premier is completeness—in every feature and for every purpose. Complete visibility of every character, before and after writing, complete keyboard control, complete tabulating and column-selecting mechanism, complete and instantaneous interchangeability of carriages and plates, and complete facility in making corrections are only a few of the exclusive Smith Premier features.

The sum of them all is complete value for your money. Write to us for our folder "When You Buy a Typewriter." It will give you some valuable points on the question of typewriter efficiency.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs held Thursday the work of the past year was closed up and the plans for the work on Federation Day were completed.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. M. J. Michael, and Miss Van Slyke, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting.

On motion the chair appointed Mrs. Robert S. Rodie and Miss Ellen Van Slyke a committee on resolutions to express the regret of the Federation on the recent death of Mrs. Howard Chipp. The resolutions presented and adopted were as follows:

The Federation of Women's Clubs in executive committee this morning, May 21st, 1914, moved to put on record resolutions expressing their great sense of loss in the death of Mrs. Howard Chipp and their profound sympathy with the bereaved family. Her presence and wide human sympathy were always an inspiration to her association in all the philanthropic and executive work of the Federation, both in the conception of plans and the carrying them to completion. Her loving kindness irradiated all her public as well as private relationship. In her loss we feel deprived of a beloved friend as well as an invaluable fellow-worker.

(Signed)
ELIZABETH P. RODIE,
ELLEN VAN SLYKE.

As the open meeting on Saturday was so reversed as to the order of procedure that some matters were left for the executive committee to close up for the year. The committee on behalf of the entire Federation, expressed their thanks to the Monday Club for the unusually delightful entertainment afforded them on Saturday last.

A correction was made in the name of the corresponding secretary which should be Mrs. Frank B. Patchin.

Mrs. Fessenden reported that the tree spraying was progressing remarkably well. With the exception of a few maple trees in some of the school yards, the maple work is now done. Already complaints of the ravages of the elm beetle are coming to Mrs. Fessenden, and it has been deemed wise by the committee having the work in charge to begin the work of spraying the elms already affected today.

The work on the elms will continue and orders should be sent to Mrs. Fessenden at once that no return visits of the spraying outfit may be necessary. Mr. Ashdown is doing the work very satisfactorily and the beauty of our city is being well conserved by this movement.

On the suggestion of a member of the Federation it was moved and carried that a committee be appointed by the chair to confer with the mayor of the city relative to the enforcement of our present traffic laws, and on request Mrs. Michael and Mrs. T. J. Hickey were appointed such committee.

Mrs. McMillan's report for the social worker activities for the month of April was given as follows:

For the month of April—
Seventy-five calls made and 14 calls received at the Federation House.

$5 donated by Everett Fowler.
Seventy-five garments received from Mrs. E. N. Deyo, Mrs. Bostwick, Willing Helpers, Mrs. Peters, Superintendent, Fair Street Reformed Missionary Society, Mr. Freeman, Alfred Tongue, Mrs. Son and Mrs. F. Huhns.

Seventeen families visited. This is a smaller number than for the previous month, because the men of the families have been able to secure work in many cases and work has also been secured for women. 87 days' care has been given at the Day Nursery, a large increase over the past month, and that in spite of measles and mumps.

The family rehabilitation work has accomplished considerable good, much of which has been made possible through the co-operation of the various agencies having philanthropic ends in view. Mrs. McMillan told of the case of a widow with several children, whose overexertion for the support of her family had in considerable measure impaired her health. Through the co-operation of physician, society, Federation, etc., she has been so materially aided that her improved health and therefore efficiency and the general wellbeing of the family seems now assured. The successful efforts of the social worker in this instance so impressed a neighbor that she at once joined the Federation, showing that the Federation of Women's Clubs are indeed making good in the community.

Mrs. Van Hovenberg, chairman of the coming Federation Day, reported the twenty-three districts practically provided with efficient chairmen and stated that the list of the districts with their respective chairmen would be ready for publication within a day or two. Mrs. Martin is chairman of the committee on boxes; Miss Mabel Thompson, chairman of committee on individual subscriptions; Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy, chairman of the committee on window cards, advertising, etc.; Mrs. C. N. Reed, chairman of churches and organizations. The solicitors for Federation Day will doubtless begin their calls next Thursday in order that every house in town may be visited by June 1, one week from next Monday. All district managers will take their boxes to the Federation House on the evening of Monday, June 1, at 7 o'clock, and the money and subscriptions will be counted there.

It was decided to pay any deficiency in the amount pledged to the endowment fund from the treasury. The monthly report of Mrs. O'Meara, treasurer of the Federation, was as follows: Receipts for the month of April, $497.14; disbursements, $136.57; leaving a total balance on hand of $360.57.

It was unanimously voted that in view of the very recent annual meeting of the Federation, reports of committees and societies be omitted. The meeting then adjourned, and unless specially called, there will be no further meetings of the general Federation until fall, though all Federation work will continue as usual.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs held Thursday the work of the past year was closed up and the plans for the work on Federation Day were completed.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. M. J. Michael, and Miss Van Slyke, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting.

On motion the chair appointed Mrs. Robert S. Rodie and Miss Ellen Van Slyke a committee on resolutions to express the regret of the Federation on the recent death of Mrs. Howard Chipp. The resolutions presented and adopted were as follows:

The Federation of Women's Clubs in executive committee this morning, May 21st, 1914, moved to put on record resolutions expressing their great sense of loss in the death of Mrs. Howard Chipp and their profound sympathy with the bereaved family.

Her human sympathy, presence and wide human sympathy were an inspiration to her association in all the philanthropic and executive work of the Federation, both in the conception of plans and the carrying them to completion. Her loving kindness irradiated all her public as well as private relationship. In her loss we feel deprived of a beloved friend as well as an invaluable fellow-worker.

(Signed)

ELIZABETH P. RODIE,
ELLEN VAN SLYKE.

As the open meeting on Saturday was so reversed as to the order of procedure that some matters were left for the executive committee to close up for the year. The committee on behalf of the entire Federation, expressed their thanks to the Monday Club for the unusually delightful entertainment afforded them on Saturday last.

A correction was made in the name of the corresponding secretary which should be Mrs. Frank B. Patchin.

Mrs. Fessenden reported that the tree spraying was progressing remarkably well. With the exception of a few maple trees in some of the school yards, the maple work is now done. Already complaints of the ravages of the elm beetle are coming to Mrs. Fessenden, and it has been deemed wise by the committee having the work in charge to begin the work of spraying the elms already affected today. The work on the elms will continue and orders should be sent to Mrs. Fessenden at once that no return visits of the spraying outfit may be necessary.

Mr. Ashdown is doing the work very satisfactorily and the beauty of our city is being well conserved by this movement.

On the suggestion of a member of the Federation it was moved and carried that a committee be appointed by the chair to confer with the mayor of the city relative to the enforcement of our present traffic laws, and on request Mrs. Michael and Mrs. T. J. Hickey were appointed such committee.

Mrs. McMillan's report for the social worker activities for the month of April was given as follows:

For the month of April—

Seventy-five calls made and 14 calls received at the Federation House.

$5 donated by Everett Fowler.

Seventy-five garments received from Mrs. E. N. Deyo, Mrs. Bostwick, Willing Helpers, Mrs. Peters, superintendent; Fair Street Reformed Missionary Society, Mr. Freeman, Alfred Tongue, Mrs. Son and Mrs. P. Hubne.

Seventeen families visited. This is a smaller number than for the previous month, because the men of the families have been able to secure work in many cases and work has also been secured for women.

$7 days' care has been given at the Day Nursery, a large increase over the past month, and that in spite of measles and mumps.

The family rehabilitation work has accomplished considerable good, much of which has been made possible through the co-operation of the various agencies having philanthropic ends in view. Mrs. McMillan told of the case of a widow with several children, whose overwork for the support of her family had in considerable measure impaired her health. Through the co-operation of physician, society, Federation, etc., she has been so materially aided that her improved health and therefore efficiency and the general wellbeing of the family seems now assured. The successful efforts of the social worker in this instance so impressed a neighbor that she at once joined the Federation, showing that the Federation of Women's Clubs are indeed making good in the community.

Mrs. Van Hoevenberg, chairman of the coming Federation Day, reported the twenty-three districts practically provided with efficient chairmen and stated that the list of the districts with their respective chairmen would be ready for publication within a day or two. Mrs. Martin is chairman of the committee on boxes; Miss Mabel Thompson, chairman of committee on individual subscriptions; Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy, chairman of the committee on window cards, advertising, etc.; Mrs. C. N. Reed, chairman of churches and organizations. The solicitors for Federation Day will doubtless begin their calls next Thursday in order that every house in town may be visited by June 1, one week from next Monday. All district managers will take their boxes to the Federation House on the evening of Monday, June 1, at 7 o'clock, and the money and subscriptions will be counted there.

It was decided to pay any deficiency in the amount pledged to the endowment fund from the treasury.

The monthly report of Mrs. O'Meara, treasurer of the Federation, was as follows: Receipts for the month of April, $497.14; disbursements, $136.57; leaving a total balance on hand of $360.57.

It was unanimously voted that in view of the very recent annual meeting of the Federation, reports of committees and societies be omitted.

The meeting then adjourned, and unless specially called, there will be no further meetings of the general Federation until fall, though all Federation work will continue as usual.

New York, May 22.—Nothing less than $2,500,000 can serve as bail for the injured feelings of pretty little Baroness Ursula Barbara Von Kalinowski, who is suing Michael J. ## MONEY AND A MAID

And a Financial Deal That Had a Curious Climax.

AN EXPERIMENT IN SAVING.

It Looked as Though the Plan Proposed by Papa Was Doomed to Failure, but the Little Lassie Had a Big Surprise For Her Fond Parent.

It is not necessary to mention her name, but it is of interest to note that she is the daughter of one of "the first families of Virginia," and one characteristic of these same first families is apt to be an utter carelessness of that which pays for your daily bread and mine and which keeps us all out of the poorhouse—money.

She was just rising eleven, this little maid, two years ago when her father first noted her lack of interest in things financial. Starting as a barefoot boy because of the prodigality of his progenitors, he had drifted north, worked for a scant living at whatever he could get to do, developed an ability, studied, worked and climbed until at last he found himself a success and was able to spend about $10,000 a year for the maintenance of himself and the wife and child he had accumulated. Then said the wise papa to himself, remembering his days of poverty and stress, "I must teach her to save."

He tried several plans, all of which failed to have any good effect. Just a year ago he hit upon a scheme which seemed to have merit.

"Here, Boots," he said, "I want to make a proposition to you. This is what I propose: I will give you a brand new dollar bill every Saturday night, and I will write the date upon each one. At the end of the year I want you to show me how many of those actual dollar bills you have, and for every one you can show me I will give you two. Do you think you can make money that way?"

The child thought she could and repeated the conditions as well as her mind grasped them, but her father thought she did not get them accurately.

"Wait," he said; "I'll write it out so that there cannot be any error."

So he wrote:

"I will give you a new one dollar bill every Saturday night. I will write the date on each one as I give it to you. For every such bill that you can show me at the end of the year I will give you two others." Then he signed it.

There was a dearth of childish funds for awhile in that household and not a few efforts on the part of the daughter to exert money from her mother, who was wise and refused accommodation. But some way, it did not then transpire how the little girl dug herself out of penury and into comparative affluence and that without meaning to exercise guile. She seemed to have money in her purse and was quite able to hold up her end at the soda fountain or wherever else her little friends gathered, and her parents, who said nothing at all about it to her, wondered and speculated, finally agreeing that Boots was spending at least a large part of her allowance.

The dollar bill came every week, duly inscribed with the date of the gift, and was accepted by the little maiden with appropriate thanks. Then came the Christmas holidays, and the parents wondered if she would save her money or remember them. She remembered them, but not with much expenditure. Then came the last of the fiscal year, and the father inscribed another note and turned it over to her.

"Now, Boots," he said, "I have given you fifty-two of these, and I promised you two for every one you could show me at the end of the year. How many have you?"

"I'll get them for you," said the innocent child and ran away.

The old folks had a laugh between themselves while she was gone, thinking that she would exhibit two or three bills and fully believing that the experiment had failed. Then in came the daughter. She laid a sheaf of bills down before her father.

He counted them—fifty-two! All unused and bearing his indorsement of the date of gift. Among them was the agreement written by her father.

"Now, how much do you owe me?" she asked.

"I reckon I owe you $104," he said, "but I cannot see how you managed to save every one of these bills and yet had all the money you have spent."

"Well, pop," she answered, "it's this way. I told Joe one time that I couldn't spend any money, although I had it, and he asked me why. I told him and showed him what you had written. Then he made me what you call a proposition.

"He has an allowance of $2 a week. He said he would give me 70 cents a week if I would keep all the bills and give them to him at the end of the year after showing them to you. It's a perfectly fair agreement. I have had my 70 cents a week, I show the bills, you give me $104 and I turn over to him the $82. He makes $15.60, and I make $104. And I don't have to be poor or broke."

Now, what would you do with a child like that?—Detroit Free-Press.

MONEY AND A MAID

And a Financial Deal That Had a Curious Climax.

AN EXPERIMENT IN SAVING.

It looked as though the plan proposed by Papa Was Doomed to Failure, but the Little Lassie Had a Big Surprise For Her Fond Parent.

It is not necessary to mention her name, but it is of interest to note that she is the daughter of one of "the first families of Virginia," and one characteristic of these same first families is apt to be an utter carelessness of that which pays for your daily bread and mine and which keeps us all out of the poorhouse—money.

She was just rising eleven, this little maid, two years ago when her father first noted her lack of interest in things financial. Starting as a barefoot boy because of the prodigality of his progenitors, he had drifted north, worked for a scant living at whatever he could get to do, developed an ability, studied, worked and climbed until at last he found himself a success and was able to spend about $10,000 a year for the maintenance of himself and the wife and child he had accumulated. Then said the wise papa to himself, remembering his days of poverty and stress, "I must teach her to save."

He tried several plans, all of which failed to have any good effect. Just a year ago he hit upon a scheme which seemed to have merit.

"Here, Boots," he said, "I want to make a proposition to you. This is what I propose: I will give you a brand new dollar bill every Saturday night, and I will write the date upon each one. At the end of the year I want you to show me how many of those actual dollar bills you have, and for every one you can show me I will give you two. Do you think you can make money that way?"

The child thought she could and repeated the conditions as well as her mind grasped them, but her father thought she did not get them accurately.

"Wait," he said; "I'll write it out so that there cannot be any error."

So he wrote:

"I will give you a new one dollar bill every Saturday night. I will write the date on each one as I give it to you. For every such bill that you can show me at the end of the year I will give you two others." Then he signed it.

There was a dearth of childish funds for awhile in that household and not a few efforts on the part of the daughter to extort money from her mother, who was wise and refused accommodation. But some way, it did not then transpire how the little girl dug herself out of penury and into comparative affluence and that without meaning to exercise guile. She seemed to have money in her purse and was quite able to hold up her end at the soda fountain or wherever else her little friends gathered, and her parents, who said nothing at all about it to her, wondered and speculated, finally agreeing that Boots was spending at least a large part of her allowance.

The dollar bill came every week, duly inscribed with the date of the gift, and was accepted by the little maiden with appropriate thanks. Then came the Christmas holidays, and the parents wondered if she would save her money or remember them. She remembered them, but not with much expenditure. Then came the last of the fiscal year, and the father inscribed another note and turned it over to her.

"Now, Boots," he said, "I have given you fifty-two of these, and I promised you two for every one you could show me at the end of the year. How many have you?"

"I'll get them for you," said the innocent child and ran away.

The old folks had a laugh between themselves while she was gone, thinking that she would exhibit two or three bills and fully believing that the experiment had failed. Then in came the daughter. She laid a sheaf of bills down before her father.

He counted them—fifty-two! All unused and bearing his indorsement of the date of gift. Among them was the agreement written by her father.

"Now, how much do you owe me?" she asked.

"I reckon I owe you $104," he said, "but I cannot see how you managed to save every one of these bills and yet had all the money you have spent."

"Well, pop," she answered, "it's this way. I told Joe one time that I couldn't spend any money, although I had it, and he asked me why. I told him and showed him what you had written. Then he made me what you call a proposition."

"He has an allowance of $2 a week. He said he would give me 70 cents a week if I would keep all the bills and give them to him at the end of the year after showing them to you. It's a perfectly fair agreement. I have had my 70 cents a week, I show the bills, you give me $104 and I turn over to him the $2. He makes $106, and I make $104. And I don't have to be poor or broke."

Now, what would you do with a child like that?—Detroit Free Press.

A large number were in attendance and the evening was one of rare enjoyment. Mr. and Mrs. Banks were warmly congratulated and the guests departed wishing them many happy returns of the day.

A very pleasant masquerade surprise party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Short of Downs street. Some very comical costumes were there among which were Mrs. T. J. Demsey in a Yama Yama suit; also Mrs. John A. Finch in a Yama Yama suit. Mrs. Walter Simpson as Hatha was a picture. Mrs. Fautz was a typical country girl. Mrs. H. Kennedy from New York as Martha Washington. Miss Carrie Finch as a tramp made quite a hit as did Yama Demsey. She was a taborer. Mr. Finch as a country schoolboy was a sight in his short trousers. Mr. Simpson as a bowery tough and Mr. Fautz as a farmer was very good. Ed. Fallon made an elegant female nurse. Emmet Decker as a dude was up-to-date. Among the guests not masked were Miss Katherine Demsey, Miss Jeannette Finch, Miss May Finch, Morton Finch and Miss Frances Gibbs. After dancing, supper was served.

Hahn, 23 Ridge street, when their daughter, Miss Carolyn Hahn was married to Christopher Bonesteel. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Howard E. Snyder, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. The bride was attractively gowned in a white robe of silk crepe meteor, trimmed with Irish point lace and real ornaments. She was attended by Miss Flora Bonesteel, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, who wore pink crepe de chine trimmed with Irish lace. The bride carried roses and the maid pink carnations. John Hahn, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. Miss Gertrude Huber rendered the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as a wedding march. William F. Kelly rendered several solo at the reception which followed and Miss Flora Bonesteel also sang very acceptably. Miss Alice Hillis presided at the buffet lunch which was afterward served. ## JAIL BREAKER CAPTURED.

DeNike is in the Penitentiary—Ellsworth Again at Large.

Edward DeNike is in the Albany penitentiary and Arthur Ellsworth when last seen jumped a southbound freight train at Ravena about six o'clock Thursday evening. Both men are trustees who made their escape from the cellar of the Ulster county jail by breaking the lock to the coal bin door some between midnight and five o'clock Thursday morning.

After making their escape from the jail they walked to the West Shore station and jumped a northbound freight train, dropping off at Ravena where they were picked up by the authorities as suspicious characters thinking perhaps they might be the men who assaulted and killed Eugene Houghtaling, the West Shore station agent at Tappan early Thursday morning.

They were arraigned before a justice of the peace at Ravena that morning and both told plausible stories as to their whereabouts during the past few months and the work they had been doing. Both men for some reason gave their right names when arrested. DeNike was sentenced to the Albany penitentiary for 20 days for train riding and for some unknown reason Ellsworth was discharged and lost no time in getting out of Ravena jumping a freight train coming towards Kingston late that afternoon.

After the general alarm that had been sent out by Sheriff Doyle regarding the escape of the trustees the Ravena authorities learned that they had captured the wanted men but it was then too late as Ellsworth had disappeared and DeNike had been taken to Albany.

The sheriff's office will take the matter up with the penitentiary today in regard to turning DeNike over to the sheriff and bringing him back to Kingston.

Arthur Ellsworth, who is still at large, is rather a hard character. He has been arrested for non-support on a charge preferred by his wife. He has one child, an infant.

This is not the first time that DeNike and Ellsworth have broken jail. Last year they were sent to jail for stealing chickens and after serving some time made their escape from the jail proper by sliding down the dumb waiter leading from the jail to the kitchen in the cellar and going out through the coal bin. This was the same method of escape used by "Detective" John Smith who is still at large.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. William Banks celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding at their home in Edenville on Wednesday evening. A large number were in attendance and the evening was one of rare enjoyment. Mr. and Mrs. Banks were warmly congratulated and the guests departed wishing them many happy returns of the day.

A very pleasant masquerade surprise party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Short of Downs street. Some very comical costumes were there among which were Mrs. T. J. Demsey in a Yama Yama suit; also Mrs. John A. Finch in a Yama Yama suit. Mrs. Walter Simpson as Hiawatha was a picture. Mrs. Fautz was a typical country girl. Mrs. B. Kennedy from New York as Martha Washington. Miss Carrie Finch as a tramp made quite a hit as did Mamie Demsey as a laborer. Mr. Finch as a country schoolboy was a sight in his short trousers. Mr. Simpson as a bowery tough and Mr. Fautz as a farmer was very good. Ed. Fallon made an elegant female nurse. Emmet Decker as a duke was up-to-date. Among the guests not masked were Miss Katherine Demsey, Miss Jeannette Finch, Miss May Finch, Morton Finch and Miss Frances Gibbs. After dancing, supper was served.

Holmes-Shuffle.

Miss Jennie May Shuffle and Gordon A. Holmes of Wallasey, Cheshire, England, were married at the Church of the Messiah in Rhinebeck on Wednesday by the Rev. Francis Little. The groom is pursuer on the White Star line.

Miss Edna L. Meyers and Fred Swindon were married on Wednesday in St. Andrew's Church at Walden. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas G. Lossee. They were attended by Miss Oneta Myers, a sister of the bride, and Clifford Swindon, a brother of the groom.

Bonesteel-Hahn.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hahn, 23 Ridge street, when their daughter, Miss Carolyn Hahn was married to Christopher Bonesteel. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Howard E. Snyder, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. The bride was attractively gowned in a white robe of silk crepe meteor, trimmed with Irish point lace and pearl ornaments. She was attended by Miss Flora Bonesteel, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, who wore pink crepe de chine, trimmed with Irish lace. The bride carried roses and the maid pink carnations. John Hahn, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. Miss Gertrude Huber rendered the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as a wedding march. William F. Kelly rendered several solo at the reception which followed and Miss Flora Bonesteel also sang very acceptably. Miss Alice Hillis presided at the buffet lunch which was afterward served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hahn, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Bonesteel, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schiede and daughters, Ethel and Mildred of Port Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Hahn of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bonesteel, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Richter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bonesteel, George A. Hahn, Jr., Mr. Bessie Gulnick, Miss Gertrude Huber, William F. JAIL BREAKER CAPTURED.

DeNike is in the Penitentiary—Ellsworth Again at Large.

Edward DeNike is in the Albany penitentiary and Arthur Ellsworth when last seen jumped a southbound freight train at Ravena about six o'clock Thursday evening. Both men are trustees who made their escape from the cellar of the Ulster county jail by breaking the lock to the coal bin door some between midnight and five o'clock Thursday morning.

After making their escape from the jail they walked to the West Shore station and jumped a north-bound freight train, dropping off at Ravena where they were picked up by the authorities. Perhaps they characters think, perhaps they might be the men who assaulted and killed Eugene Houghtaling, the West Shore station agent at Tappan early Thursday morning.

They were arraigned before a justice of the peace at Ravena that morning and both told plausible stories as to their whereabouts during the past few months and the work they had been doing. Both men for some reason gave their right names when arrested. DeNike was sentenced to the Albany penitentiary for 20 days for train riding and for some unknown reason Ellsworth was discharged and lost no time in getting out of Ravena jumping a freight train coming towards Kingston late that afternoon.

After the general alarm that had been sent out by Sheriff Doyle regarding the escape of the trustees the Ravena authorities learned that they had captured the wanted men but it was then too late as Ellsworth had disappeared and DeNike had been taken to Albany.

The sheriff's office will take the matter up with the penitentiary today in regard to turning DeNike over to the sheriff and bringing him back to Kingston.

Arthur Ellsworth, who is still at large, is rather a hard character. He has been arrested for non-support on a charge preferred by his wife. He has one infant, an infant.

This is not the first time that DeNike and Ellsworth have broken jail. Last year they were sent to jail for stealing chickens and after serving some time made their escape from the jail proper by sliding down the dumb waiter leading from the jail to the kitchen in the cellar and going out through the coal bin. This was the same method of escape used by "Detective" John Smith who is still at large.

BARNUM'S CIRCUS

WILL PARADE

Line of March Ranges From North Front Street to the Strand, Mayor Canfield Having Insisted on This.

Barnum & Bailey's "Greatest Show on Earth" will be in Kingston tomorrow and will probably play to a record-breaking crowd. The circus was in Newburgh today and reports brought to Kingston were that that city held one of the biggest crowds it has known in many years.

Everybody goes to the circus. No matter whether they patronize other amusements, when the circus comes to town they usually forget everything else and go to see it.

The circus will pull in town at an early hour—probably between 2 and 3 o'clock, as the distance from Newburgh to Kingston is so small. One of the most interesting sights connected with the circus is to watch it unpack and unroll and unwrap itself from the long trains and get ready for the day's work. To the uninitiated, the may appear to be much confusion, but the keen observer notices that there is a place and a use for everything and everybody, and that the entire management is characterized by the most perfect order and system.

To watch an army on the move is not nearly as interesting as watching the circus, because the army has not nearly the variety of work connected with it that the circus has.

The circus parade tomorrow morning will be a big attraction for everyone. The parade will pass through the uptown and down streets, Mayor Canfield having insisted that the circus parade both uptown and downtown before he granted permission for the show to come here. The Barnum & Bailey parade is a big one this year, and as much of the paraphernalia is new this year the parade will be unusually attractive. The number of elephants, giraffes, zebras, and in fact all animals in the circus menagerie, is larger this year than it ever has been, and the spectacular features are far ahead of spectacular features of the past.

There will be two performances, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening. It is not necessary to mention the various features of the big show, because everything on the program is a feature in itself. With three rings, platform performances, races, clowning, aerial performers and scores of other attractions, it would be very difficult not to find something that is amusing, instructive, entertaining and pleasing.

Kingston always welcomes the circus, but no circus ever will be accorded a heartier welcome than that which the original Barnum & Bailey Circus, which comes here tomorrow, will receive.

The line of the parade will be as follows: Foxhall avenue to O'Neill street, to Broadway, to Albany avenue, to Clinton avenue, to North Front, to Wall, to St. James, to Broadway, to Delaware avenue, to Murray, to Hasbrouck avenue, to Strand, to Broadway, to Abel, to Wurts, to McEntee, to Broadway, to Foxhall avenue.

Struck by an Automobile.

A team of horses owned by David Gill of East Strand were struck by an automobile containing two men at the corner of Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand this morning. The driver of the rig was endeavoring to turn around at the intersection of the two streets when the auto approached. The chauffeur was unable to stop his machine, evidently thinking that he could pass between the horses and the curb but he misjudged the distance. The result was that one of the horses was struck and a portion of the harness ripped off. The horses were not injured, however.

Fell From Trolley Car.

William Vignes, a well known traveling salesman, fell from a Broadway car while attempting to alight near Suyvesant street on Thursday evening and struck his head against the brick pavement. He was taken to the residence of Grove Webster, Jr., nearby and later the ambulance was summoned. His injuries were dressed at the Kingston city hospital and he then went home. The injuries are not serious.

DID THE WORK.

Grew Strong on Right Food.

You can't grow strong by merely exercising. You must have the food—the kind you can digest and assimilate.

Unless the food you eat is digested it adds to the burden the digestive organs have naturally to carry. This often means a nervous breakdown.

"About a year ago," writes a Mass. lady, "I had quite a serious nervous breakdown, caused, as I believed, by overwork and worry. I also suffered untold misery from dyspepsia.

"First I gave up my position, then I tried to find a remedy for my troubles, something that would make me well and strong, something to rest my tired stomach and build up my worn-out nerves and brain.

"I tried one kind of medicine after another, but nothing seemed to help me.

"Finally a friend suggested change of food and recommended Grape-Nuts. With little or no faith in it, I tried a package. That was eight months ago and I have never been without it since.

"Grape-Nuts did the work. It helped me grow strong and well. Grape-Nuts put new life into me, built up my whole system and made another woman of me!"

THREATENED SUIT FOR AUTOMOBILE

Mayor Canfield has received notice that if the motor patrol which is claimed was ordered by the city under the Irwin administration is not accepted by the first of June that it will be sold and the company will hold the city liable for any loss or damage sustained by the alleged breach of contract. The company in its notice states that it has been for some time past ready to deliver the combination police patrol and ambulance, fully equipped as ordered from the company in accordance with a vote passed by the police board of this city at its meeting held December 2, 1913. The machine was shipped to Kingston some time ago as related in the columns of The Freeman and Mayor Canfield refused to accept it basing his refusal upon the grounds that he had been assured by ex-Mayor Irwin that no truck had been ordered from the company. Mr. Irwin when seen at that time by a representative of The Freeman stated positively that no truck had been ordered.

New High School Progressing.

The yellow face brick and window frames for the new high school are being placed in position today and attract much attention. The downtown side of the building is now being laid up preparatory to further work on the front. The combination of the Indiana limestone and yellow brick forms a most pleasing contrast and is favorably commented on by many people.

Smoke From Forest Fires.

Forest fires in the vicinity of Kingston caused anxiety to steamboatmen on the Hudson river on Thursday night. The smoke hung like a fog and navigators said it was fully as hard to penetrate it as thought it had been a heavy foggy night. There was little breeze blowing and the smoke did not lift throughout the night.

Mrs. Niedergass Goes Home.

Mrs. Frederick Niedergass, who was shot by her husband the other day, three bullets penetrating her body, was discharged from the Kingston City Hospital on Thursday and taken to her home. It is thought she will be entirely recovered in a few weeks, unless no complications ensue.

How Are Your Molars?

There are six upper and lower front teeth to cut the food. There are twenty back teeth to grind it. Twelve of these are called molars.

These molars are the last three teeth on each jaw. The word "molar" means "mill stone." They grind and grind the food like a mortar and pestle.

Asking "How are your molars?" is like asking "How is your health?" Yet these molars are often sadly neglected. Have your molars examined. If they are not sound have them filled or crowned.

Probably some of your molars are decayed. If so, get them filled or crowned at once and they will last you through life.

THREATENED SUIT FOR AUTOMOBILE

Mayor Canfield has received notice that if the motor patrol which is claimed was ordered by the city under the Irwin administration is not accepted by the first of June that it will be sold and the company will hold the city liable for any loss or damage sustained by the alleged breach of contract. The company in its notice states that it has been for some time past ready to deliver the combination police patrol and ambulance, fully equipped as ordered from the company in accordance with a vote passed by the police board of this city at its meeting held December 2, 1913. The machine was shipped to Kingston some time ago as related in the columns of The Freeman and Mayor Canfield refused to accept it basing his refusal upon the grounds that he had been assured by ex-Mayor Irwin that no truck had been ordered from the company. Mr. Irwin when seen at that time by a representative of The Freeman stated positively that no truck had been ordered.

New High School Progressing.

The yellow face brick and window frames for the new high school are being placed in position today and attract much attention. The downtown side of the building is now being laid up preparatory to further work on the front. The combination of the Indiana limestone and yellow brick forms a most pleasing contrast and is favorably commented on by many people.

Smoke From Forest Fires.

Forest fires in the vicinity of Kingston caused anxiety to steamboatmen on the Hudson river on Thursday night. The smoke hung like a fog and navigators said it was fully as hard to penetrate it as thought it had been a heavy foggy night. There was little breeze blowing and the smoke did not lift throughout the night.

Mrs. Niedergesass Goes Home.

Mrs. Frederick Niedergesass, who was shot by her husband the other day, three bullets penetrating her body, was discharged from the Kingston City Hospital on Thursday and taken to her home. It is thought she will be entirely recovered in a few weeks, unless no complications ensue.

How Are Your Molars?

There are six upper and lower front teeth to cut the food. There are twenty back teeth to grind it. Twelve of these are called molars. These molars are the last; three teeth on each jaw. The word "molar" means "mill stone." They grind and grind the food like a mortar and pestle. Asking "How are your molars?" is like asking "How is your health?" Yet these molars are often sadly neglected. Have your molars examined. If they are not sound have them filled or crowned. Probably some of your molars are decayed. If so, get them filled or crowned at once and they will last you through life. Extraction 50c. Silver Fillings, $1; Gold Fillings, from $2; Gold and Porcelain Crowns, $5; Bridge Work, per tooth, $5; Plates, $10 and $15. Open Evenings to 9. Sundays, 9 to 1.

Trip to Camp Anawana.

On Thursday morning S. E. Eighmey, A. C. Connelly, F. W. Powell, A. T. Bonesteel and G. D. Beckwith took an automobile trip to Camp Anawana in Sullivan county, to make preliminary preparations for the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp to be held July 7 to 21. The auto registered just one hundred miles for the round trip. The old camp site was found to be in excellent condition, with its large lake and sandy beach, its green and shady campus, its large cook shack and its bubbling spring of cold water. George D. Beckwith will be in complete charge of the camp and will be assisted by a corps of adult leaders. Already several applications for camp have been handed in. The number of campers is limited to 42 boys and 6 leaders, besides the superintendent and cook and their assistants. The boys are becoming quite enthused over the prospects of a jolly and profitable camp this year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 22.—The declaration of the usual quarterly dividend of one per cent by Chesapeake & Ohio, announcement of which was not made until after the close of the market yesterday, caused an advance of one point in this issue at the opening of the market today. Chesapeake & Ohio's first transaction was 51 1/2 for an advance of 1/2 but immediately afterward it rose to 52. There was a firm tone throughout the list at the opening and a number of fractional advances were reported. Gains of 1/2 were scored by American Can., Missouri Pacific, Great Northern Pfd., and Canadian Pacific. United States Steel Common began unchanged at 61 1/2 then sustained a fractional decline which it quickly recovered. Union Pacific began 1/2 higher but shaded its best. Southern Pacific made a partial recovery after opening fractionally lower. Amalgamated Copper, Atchison, Lehigh Valley and New York, New Haven and Hartford were 1/2 lower in the initial trading. American Smelting reflected fair demand advancing 1/2. The curb was steady. Americans in London were irregular. Canadian Pacific in London was strong.

Noon—Trading was extremely quiet in the late afternoon and price movements were narrow. Reading moved up 1/2 to 165 1/2. Baltimore & Ohio advanced 1/2. Chesapeake & Ohio declined 1/2. Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel held firm. Call money loaning at 1 1/2 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—Trading was almost at a standstill in the late afternoon and price changes were small and without importance. New York Central made a fractional gain over the midday price. New York, New Haven & Hartford also reflected a light demand, gaining fractionally. The New York stock market closed steady, governments unchanged, other bonds steady.

Quotations furnished by John D. Kling, Broadway and Strand, Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 93. Correspondent of C. H. Van Buren & Company, members of Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York.

New York, May 22.—The declaration of the usual quarterly dividend of one per cent by Chesapeake & Ohio, announcement of which was not made until after the close of the market yesterday, caused an advance of one point in this issue at the opening of the market today. Chesapeake & Ohio's first transaction was 5 1/4 for an advance of 1/4 but immediately afterward it rose to 5 1/2. There was a firm tone throughout the list at the opening and a number of fractional advances were reported. Gains of 1/4 were scored by American Can., Missouri Pacific, Great Northern Pfd., and Canadian Pacific. United States Steel Common began unchanged at 61 1/2 then sustained a fractional decline which it quickly recovered. Union Pacific began 1/4 higher but shaded its best. Southern Pacific made a partial recovery after opening fractionally lower. Amalgamated Copper, Aitchison, Lehigh Valley and New York, New Haven and Hartford were 1/4 lower in the initial trading. American Smelting reflected favorably. The curb was steady. Americans London were irregular. Canadian Pacific in London was strong.

Noon—Trading was extremely quiet in the late afternoon and price movements were narrow. Reading moved up 1/4 to 166 1/2. Baltimore & Ohio advanced 1/4. Chesapeake & Ohio declined 1/4. Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel held firm. Call money loaning at 1 1/4 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—Trading was almost at a standstill in the late afternoon and price changes were small and without importance. New York Central made a fractional gain over the midday price. New York, New Haven & Hartford also reflected a light demand, gaining fractionally. The New York stock market closed steady, governments unchanged, other bonds steady.

KINGSTON WANTS NEXT CONVENTION

Kingston firemen, who will attend the annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association in Haverstraw, will put forth an effort to secure the convention for this city in 1915. Already plans are being made to win the delegates to unite on Kingston as their choice and they will go before the convention with a program arranged that it is thought will bar any competition from sister cities in the Hudson Valley. As yet the firemen would rather not disclose their plans but feel that the convention is an assured fact in June, 1915. The last convention of the association held here was in 1910.

20 NEW MEMBERS IN AUTOMOBILE CLUB

The Automobile Club of Ulster county held a very successful smoker at its headquarters in the Eagle Hotel on Thursday night and twenty new members were added to the membership roll of the club, which now numbers 250 members and is in a very flourishing condition. The guests of honor were Fay C. Pearsons, treasurer of the New York State Automobile Association, Cortland, N. Y., and A. J. Deer, president of the New York State Automobile Association, Hornell, N. Y.

Mr. Pearsons spoke along the lines of the legislative and financial condition of the automobile association and Mr. Deer delivered an interesting address on what the members received for their money and told how for the past four years no legislation opposed by the state association, of which the local club is a member, had passed the legislature, showing the extreme activity of the association and the interest of automobile owners. Dr. Meinhardt, the secretary of the club, and James F. Louchran, the president, also spoke briefly of the good work accomplished by the club in the city and county.

The club will shortly open an information bureau in the club headquarters at the Eagle Hotel in charge of a competent clerk, where automobile owners can receive any information they desire in regard to road conditions in the county and other information of interest.

So successful was the smoker that it was decided to hold them from time to time and to have good speakers present to address the members on topics of interest.

The new members added to the club Thursday evening were: W. W. McElhone, Walkkill; S. T. Van Aken, Ulster Park; Dr. James Krom, Saugerties; H. C. Van Buskirk, Saugerties; Winnie Finch, West Camp; Frank C. Chaffee, Ulster Park; Holt N. Winfield, Ulster Park; Walter S. Smith, Saugerties; John C. Shultz, Saugerties; Fred J. ## MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 22.—"The crop of present day pugilists isn't as good as that which used to be harvested back in the old days," remarked Frank Erne, once the lightweight champion, and regarded by many as one of the brainiest fighters that ever donned the mitts.

"There are mighty few boxers and even fewer ring generals than there used to be ten and twenty years ago. The reason for that is the many ten round no-decision bouts that are being staged in these days. Ten rounds is no test for a man. It's no hard job for even a mediocre fighter to last out ten rounds. But when he has to go the route for 20 or 25 rounds that's when the pace begins to tell and that's where generalship and boxing ability comes in."

"The majority of present day fighters are not ring generals because they are really never called upon in a ten round bout to show or use generalship. But in the old days a fighter who wasn't a ring general never amounted to much—and didn't last very long."

Around about the 15th and 18th rounds is when the pace of a real fight begins to tell on a man. It is then he must draw heavily not only on his waning strength but upon his brains. It is then that he must begin to show his generalship—to maneuver to not only to keep on his feet and keep a goin', but to beat the other fellow down.

"It was the boys with the brains that came to the top in the old days. Brute strength didn't count much. Kid McCoy rose almost to the top not because he was a wonderful fighting machine, but because he was a great ring general. The same is true of Tommy Ryan, Jim Corbett and a bunch of the other old timers. They were really brainy fighters—men who didn't depend upon their strength, but upon their brains, and upon the crafty ideas they figured out while in the ring. It was a treat to watch the old timers. They used science mixed with strength, whereas in this day, science seems to be something of a lost art and only exhibitions of strength are displayed."

"Packy McFarland is the peer of all boxers in the ring today. He is the type of the old-time generals. He is as brainy as any man that ever stepped within the ropes, and he uses those brains every moment of the time. His brains control his feet and his hands. His brain always is trying to figure out the other fellow's plan, and Packy usually doesn't have to figure long before he reaches his answer. And then it's a walkaway for Packy."

"One of the strangest things, in my opinion, is the shortage of real fighters in the present day. There is not a heavyweight who is in Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Sharkey or Jeffries class when they were in their prime. There isn't a real middleweight fighter in the game today, although there are one or two men who may develop into good fighters some of these days."

Flies Breed In Filth.

"If at first you don't succeed swat again!"

A mild winter and spring preface the early arrival of our bitterest enemies—flies—in vastly increased numbers. Immediate, well directed efforts must be put forth if the threatening dangers are to be minimized. The time to fight flies is before they become maggots—when in the egg or when they are maggots.

The problem of elimination of flies is one of elimination of filth. No filth, no flies.

Flies breed in filth, play on filth, eat filth and distribute filth—the filthiest kind of filth. If we do away with the breeding places of flies there will be no flies.

Therefore the way to swat flies now is to clean up the fly breeding filth. Clean up, keep clean and see that your neighbors keep likewise, and you will have few, if any, flies to contend with. Of course have your swatter ready for the first arrivals.

Babies Fear the Force of Gravity.

The first experiment which a baby makes is connected with the force of gravity. It is born with an instinctive or ancestral dread of the unrestrained action of that force upon its own body, and it is said to be able to cling with tenacity to a stick or branch of a tree. Later on it takes pleasure in dropping miscellaneous objects to see them fall, perhaps to see if they all fall alike.

And a very remarkable fact it is which is thus observed: The most familiar of all material facts and one of the least understood—least understood, that is, of all the simple physical facts which must surely be well within the limits of human comprehension. For if a philosopher is asked why all bodies tend to move toward the earth and why they all fall with steady, equal acceleration unless retarded or checked somehow he has to reply that he does not know.—Sir Oliver Lodge in Harper's Magazine.

Four Leaved Clover.

Since four leaved clover is said to be lucky it might be well to know how it happens that while most clover has only three leaves one is found now and then with four.

According to J. Perriraz, who discusses the question in the Archives des Sciences Physiques et Naturelles, clovers with more than three leaves are due to two causes, one hereditary, the other nutritive. After a moist season clover plants with four or even five, six or seven leaves are relatively common, and plants with only two leaves are also seen at such times, but these are very rare.

But some plants are abnormal by heredity and reproduce themselves with the same characteristics in successive years when their environment remains the same, external influences merely modifying the size of the leaves.

KINGSTON WANTS NEXT CONVENTION

Kingston freemen, who will attend the annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association in Haverstraw, will put forth an effort to secure the convention for this city in 1915. Already plans are being made to win the delegates to unite on Kingston as their choice and they will go before the convention with a program arranged that it is thought will bar any competition from sister cities in the Hudson Valley. As yet the freemen would rather not disclose their plans but feel that the convention is an assured fact in June, 1915. The last convention of the association held here was in 1910.

20 NEW MEMBERS IN AUTOMOBILE CLUB

The Automobile Club of Ulster county held a very successful smoker at its headquarters in the Eagle Hotel on Thursday night and twenty new members were added to the membership roll of the club, which now numbers 250 members and is in a very flourishing condition. The guests of honor were Fay C. Pearsons, treasurer of the New York State Automobile Association, Cortland, N. Y., and A. J. Deer, president of the New York State Automobile Association, Hornell, N. Y.

Mr. Pearsons spoke along the lines of the legislative and financial condition of the automobile association, and Mr. Deer delivered an interesting address on what the members received for their money and told how for the past four years no legislation opposed by the state association, of which the local club is a member, had passed the legislature, showing the extreme activity of the association and the interest of automobile owners. Dr. Meinhardt, the secretary of the club, and James F. Loughran, the president, also spoke briefly of the good work accomplished by the club in the city and county.

The club will shortly open an information bureau in the club headquarters at the Eagle Hotel in charge of a competent clerk, where automobile owners can receive any information they desire in regard to road conditions in the county and other information of interest.

So successful was the smoker that it was decided to hold them from time to time and to have good speakers present to address the members on topics of interest.

The new members added to the club on Thursday evening were: W. W. McElhorne, Wallkill; S. T. Van Aken, Ulster Park; Dr. James Krom, Saugerties; H. C. Van Buskirk, Saugerties; Winnie Finch, West Camp; Frank C. Chaffee, Ulster Park; Holt N. Winfield, Ulster Park; Walter S. Smith, Saugerties; John C. Shultz, Saugerties; Fred J. Snyder, Comenon; Thomas O'Hara, Kingston; Charles E. Everett, Kingston; Henry E. McKendzie, Port Ewen; F. B. Matthews, Kingston; D. N. Matthews, Kingston; John R. Smith, Ulster Park; L. Herrine, Ulster Park; John A. Snyder, Saugerties; I. G. Van Wyck, Wallkill; W. A. Van Derveer, Port Ewen.

Their present home and environs will be described and the thrilling story of their past narrated in an illustrated lecture at Trinity Methodist Church Sunday evening.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 22.—"The crop of present day pugilists isn't as good as that which used to be harvested back in the old days," remarked Frank Erne, once the lightweight champion, and regarded by many as one of the brainiest fighters that ever donned the mitts.

"There are mighty few boxers and even fewer ring generals than there used to be ten and twenty years ago. The reason for that is the many ten round no-decision bouts that are being staged in these days. Ten rounds is no test for a man. It's no hard job for even a mediocre fighter to last out ten rounds. But when he has to go the route for 20 or 25 rounds that's when the pace begins to tell—and that's where generalship and boxing ability come in.

"The majority of present day fighters are not ring generals because they are really never called upon in a ten round bout to show or use generalship. But in the old days a fighter who wasn't a ring general never amounted to much—and didn't last very long.

Around about the 15th and 18th rounds is when the pace of a real fight begins to tell on a man. It is then he must draw heavily not only on his waning strength but upon his brains. It is then that he must begin to show his generalship—to maneuver to not only to keep on his feet and keep a goin', but to beat the other fellow down.

"It was the boys with the brains that came to the top in the old days. Brute strength didn't count much. Kid McCoy rose almost to the top not because he was a wonderful fighting machine, but because he was a great ring general. The same is true of Tommy Ryan, Jim Corbett and a bunch of the other old timers. They were really brainy fighters—men who didn't depend upon their strength, but upon their brains, and upon the crafty ideas they figured out while in the ring. It was a treat to watch the old timers. They used science mixed with strength, whereas in this day, science seems to be something of a lost art and only exhibitions of strength are displayed.

"One of the strangest things, in my opinion, is the shortage of real fighters in the present day. There is not a heavyweight who is in Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Sharkey or Jeffries class when they were in their prime. There isn't a real middleweight fighter in the game today, although there are one or two men who may develop into good fighters some of these days.

"And there's the same dearth of material in the lightweight class. Ritchie, of course, stands above the rest, but after Ritchie there are few fighters who can now be ranked in the first class.

"But it was different in my day. Then there were at least a dozen aspirants for the lightweight title who were as good—probably better—than any present day lightweight. When I was in my prime there were such men as Dal Hawkins, Kid Lavigne, Jack Daly, Elbows McFadden, Joe Gans, Young Griffo, Oscar Gardner, Jim Handler, Eddie Conley, Kid McFarland, Jack Everhardt and a bunch of others who were ranked in the first class—ranked as men who could give the champion a battle of the kind to set the crowd wild with delight.

"In my opinion, Joe Gans was the greatest fighter that ever was seen in the lightweight division. He was a wonder. But Gans made the mistake of his life when he trained down to 133 for Nelson. It weakened him so that he was only a shadow of his former self, and Nelson won from him. Nelson never was in Gans's class and never would have had a chance with him if Joe hadn't weakened himself too much for the first fight, and then hadn't broken down physically when he tackled Nelson for the second time."

When Love Cool.
Many an engagement has been broken off through a misunderstanding—each thinking the other had money.—Detroit Journal.

Criminals at Large.
Gibbs (visiting)—What sort of neighbors have you here? Dibbs—A bad lot. There's a blacksmith who's engaged in forging, a carpenter who's done some counter fitting and a couple of fellows next door who sell iron steel for a living.

Boarded by a Pirate.
Miss Gush—Oh, captain, were you ever boarded by a pirate? Captain Storms—Yes, he charged me $3 a day for a bedroom on the fourth floor.—Christian Register.

The power of necessity is irresistible.—Aeschylus.

Babies Fear the Force of Gravity.
The first experiment which a baby makes is connected with the force of gravity. It is born with an instinctive or ancestral dread of the unrestrained action of that force upon its own body, and it is said to be able to cling with tenacity to a stick or branch of a tree. Later on it takes pleasure in dropping miscellaneous objects to see them fall, perhaps to see if they all fall alike.

Fear Leafed Clover.
Since four leafed clover is said to be lucky it might be well to know how it happens that while most clover has only three leaves one is found now and then with four.

But some plants are abnormal by heredity and reproduce themselves with the same characteristics in successive years when their environment remains the same, external influences merely modifying the size of the leaves.

—Sir Oliver Lodge in Harper's Magazine.
